SENATORS IN ANGRY DEBATE ON BRYAN ASSAIL EACH OTHER

Bristow Says Ashurst Franked $100 Worth of Telegrams and Is Accused of Job Seeking.

INQUIRY RESOLUTION LOST

Democrats, With Two Republicans Defeat Move to Stop Bryan's Lectures, 41 to 29.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—In the Senate today, which preceded the quelling of the Bristow resolution against Bryan, much entertainment was furnished by a clash between Senators Ashurst and Bristow.

A charge that the Senator from Arizona had "used $100 of public funds" to pay for telegrams that should have been paid for out of his own pocket was made by Bristow. Ashurst denied it and Bristow agreed to produce the telegrams to prove his charge.

Sensor Ashurst read a letter intended to show that Bristow, years ago, had expressed a wish to be an isthmian canal commissioner, with the suggestion that he need not spend much time "on the job."

"Since I have been a member of the Senate," shouted Bristow, shaking a finger at Ashurst, "I have not spent $100 of the funds of the United States to carry telegrams to my constituents, as has the Senator from Arizona, many of which should have been paid for by himself."

Dares Him to Show Proof. Senator Ashurst denied the charge absolutely and "dared" Bristow to produce proofs. The whole allegation, he replied, was "wholly without foundation."

Bristow reiterated that the "Senator has sent at public expense telegrams pertaining to private business."

The letter which precipitated the row was one Bristow had written to Senator Chester I. Long, May 27, 1906.

"I think I would like to have one of those advisory places on the Canal Commission," it said. "They pay $500 and require a visit to the isthmus once in three months. I could hold it and live in Kansas, being there at least half my time, and when the fight got hot I could resign."

By strict party vote the Senate Democrats succeeded without debate in tabling Bristow's resolution aimed at Secretary Bryan's proposed six weeks' lecture tour.

The resolution would have called on President Wilson to advise the Senate what salary would be sufficient to keep Mr. Bryan continuously at his post and was prompted by the Secretary's public announcement that he was obliged to augment his pay of $15,000 a year by lectures to meet his living expenses.

Sensors Pendergast and Borah voted with the Democrats to table the resolution. The vote was 41 to 29.

Bristow Rejected Out of Order. As the vote was announced, Senator Bristow faced the Democratic Senators and declared:

"You may shut off debate in the Senate, but you cannot convince the American people that a Secretary of State may neglect the duties of his office for three months of a year."

Vice-President Marshall ruled that Senator Bristow was out of order.

"It would be just as reasonable for the Attorney-General to take three months off a year to practice law," shouted Senator Bristow, who refused to be shut out.

"I believe in a condition before the country that is a condition before the country that should demand the attention of Congress and the administration in power."

Vardaman Enters Debate. "Are you really apprehensive," interrupted Senator Vardaman, a Democrat, "that the business of the State Department will suffer because Mr. Bryan is occasionally away?"

"It has been said since this discussion began," replied Senator Bristow, "that the State Department is better off with the Secretary away than with him here. I believe if the Secretary would give to the problems before him the powers of his great intellect, he could perform a great service to the country."

"Whether the subordinates in his department are better fitted to attend to the duties than he, I do not know."

Sensor Fall suggested that if Secretary Bryan had remained at his post the Senate would have had an answer to its resolution of April 24, asking for the amount of damages to victims of Mexican troubles.

"Aside from the technical and legal questions of the right of a public servant to sell his services twice, the public announcement by Mr. Bryan that a man of his well-advertised democratic tastes cannot live on an income of $15,000 a year presents a moral question for the consideration of the American people," declared Senator Townsend, Republican of Michigan.

"The question is simply this, whether under the circumstances it is the duty of citizens and the public servant to modify his style of living to bring it within his legitimate income or whether it is his privilege to recall his services in order to cover the cost of the style of living he has adopted."

Sensor Townsend's speech was an attack upon the Secretary of State for his proposal of making paid lectures during his tenure of office to increase his income.

EATS 140 FIGS IN 25 MINUTES AND WINS $5

Fruit Dealer in Distress After Winning Contest Over California Product.

The champion fig eater of St. Louis, perhaps the world's greatest fig eater, who knows? has been discovered. He is Charles Dattilo of the Latin Quarter on North Seventh street. He ate 140 figs in half an hour Friday and won not only the local championship, but $5.

Dattilo and a party of other retail fruit dealers were discussing the possible prize figs would bring at the California fruit auction, when someone remarked that California green figs would go no higher than $1.50 a box.

Dattilo differed with the man and the two entered into a debate about the possibility of California green figs. The other man argued the figs were too large and too heavy for ordinary consumption, but Dattilo said they were easy and pleasant to eat.

"I'll bet I can eat two boxes of them in an hour and not feel it at all," said Dattilo.

"You're on," said Harry Pixie, manager of the exchange. "I'll bet you $5 you can't do it."

The money was put up and Dattilo devoured two boxes of figs, each containing 70 and the two boxes weighing six pounds, in less than half an hour.

When he was through Dattilo was full of figs that he had to hasten around the block several times to get air into his lungs. He is 35 years old.

D. M. Sarason, who acted as official timekeeper, found the actual time taken by Dattilo to eat the figs was 25m. 54s.

WALL STREET RUMOR SAYS THAT BRYAN WILL RESIGN

NEW YORK, July 18.—A rumor coming apparently from nowhere and having no acknowledged father was circulated in Wall street today and the market belied thereby.

The rumor was that Secretary of State Bryan was to resign, and the street took to this as a good sign.

No man on the street would acknowledge he started the report, or that he knew whence it came.

HEAT KILLS 2 MEN; WOMAN OVERCOME LEAVING COURT

Man Goes Home, Tells Wife "Heat Has Best of Me," and He Quickly Succumbs.

DEATH TOTAL, 4 IN 2 DAYS

Witness in Police Court Revived in Police Station and Is Sent to Her Home.

Two men died from the heat Friday afternoon and one woman was overcome. The thermometer registered 96 at 1 p. m. and 100 at 3 p. m.

John E. Ort of 372 Louisiana avenue, employed at the Parker Distilling Co., 23 Market street, went to his home at 1 o'clock and told to his wife "The heat has the best of me. I am going to die." Mrs. Ort called a physician immediately, but when he arrived Ort had died.

William Bergesch, 40 years old, a negro of 1224 Bayard avenue, died at his home shortly after noon.

As Mrs. Fred Grant, 40 years old, of 1424 Clare avenue, was leaving the Dayton Street Police Court, where she had been a witness, she was overcome by the heat. She was taken into the office of Capt. Singleton and revived and then taken home.

Others overcome are Dr. George Lee of Granite City and William Stuck, mortician, of Granite City; Charles Ziegler, furniture wagon driver, of Granite City; George Stevenson, 57, a laborer, overcome at Ninth and Chestnut streets; Joseph Knapp of 115 Washington avenue, overcome in front of 1009 North Twelfth street; Frank Wyman, laborer, overcome at Ninth street and Washington avenue; Joe Lagrasse, overcome in Brown shoe factory, Eighth and Wash streets; Joseph Witte of 1224 Quincy street, overcome in front of 574 Manchester street; and Emanuel Boas, overcome when at work as a fireman at the Gast Brewery, 3300 North Broadway.

Two persons died from the heat in St. Louis Thursday, the first day this year with a temperature of more than 100.

Barbara Pliskack, 14 years old, living in an orphan's home, was one of them. So was Edward Brown, a negro janitor for Francis Bros. & Co., the other. Brown was stricken at his place of work, 1009 North Twelfth street; he died in an ambulance on the way to the City Hospital.

Heat Overcomes Brothers at Springfield, Mo., July 18.—George and Otto Byers, brothers and carpenters, working in the same building yesterday afternoon. Both men had discontinued work owing to the heat and had started home. George fell after he had walked several blocks, but Otto walked only a short distance before he was overcome. George is critically ill. Otto recovered in a short time.

GOES TO SEE HIS FATHER AND FINDS HE IS DEAD

Peter Bomgard, Separated From Family, Expires in the Night From Dropsy.

John Bomgard of 1231 Morganford road went down to 303 East Third street Friday morning to invite his father, Peter Bomgard, out to his house and found him dead. The elder Bomgard, who was 86 years old, had died in the night from dropsy.

Bomgard had been separated from his family for 11 years and until two months ago conducted a rooming house at 303 East Third street, Belleville, and his father lived there.

When his clothing was searched at the morgue two certificates of deposit in the German American Bank were found. One was for $1000.40 and the other for $77.84. He also had $22.40 in currency.

TWO NUNS, FEARING SEPARATION, FLED FROM BELLEVILLE

Sister Regina and Sister Virginia Left Hospital and Went to Kansas City.

WORE FASHIONABLE HATS

Mother Superior Says They Are Now Back in Order, Nursing at Different Posts.

The strange disappearance of two Franciscan nuns from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville, which is conducted by the Franciscan order, has puzzled residents of that city for several weeks.

A Post-Dispatch reporter Friday learned the facts surrounding the mystery from the Mother Superior at the hospital, a Belleville physician and from two women who were on the train on which the nuns fled, and they reveal that the strong friendship between the two nuns caused them to run away.

The older one of the runaways was Sister Regina, who was the operating nurse at the hospital. She is 38 years old and had been at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for more than ten years. The younger was Sister Virginia. She is 25 years old, and had been in Belleville only six months.

Did Not Want to Be Separated. During their short acquaintance the two nuns became strongly attached to each other. They planned to run away from the hospital when they learned that the Mother Superior was preparing to transfer Sister Virginia to the mother house of the order at Springfield, Ill.

For two weeks prior to the date on which Sister Virginia was to depart for Springfield, she and Sister Regina planned to run away. They confided their intentions to Dr. P. E. Auten, who tried to persuade them to remain at the hospital.

When the time arrived for Sister Virginia to leave, she was taken to the town square in Belleville by the Mother Superior and placed on a street car bound for St. Louis. She rode to West Belleville and got off the car. A few minutes later she was joined by Sister Regina, who had secretly left the hospital through the rear door during the absence of the Mother Superior.

Asked Them to Go Back. The two nuns then went to the office of Dr. Auten and asked him for a loan of $300. He refused, saying that he wanted them to return to the hospital. They then asked him to take them to his home in St. Louis. He also refused this request.

Dr. Auten told the two nuns that they would be like children out in the world on account of their long convent life. He begged them to go back to the hospital. They told him they were good nurses and could easily make their living.

After the conference with Dr. Auten the nuns boarded a street car and came to St. Louis. Here they were met by a niece of the Mother Superior, to whom they had told their secret, and who provided them with street clothing.

Wore Fashionable Hats. After changing their nun's habits and obtaining long dark cloaks and fashionable hats, the two nuns went to Union Station and bought railroad tickets to Kansas City.

Before the train departed the two nuns approached Mrs. Elise Kueffner of 305 East D street, Belleville, and her niece, Miss Lisa Pittman, both of whom were en route to California. Neither of them told their names. The first recognized either of the two nuns, although they knew both of them well, as Mrs. Kueffner had been a patient in St. Elizabeth's Hospital for several weeks.

"What on earth are you doing here in this heat?" Mrs. Kueffner asked. "We are running away," answered Sister Regina. "Mother Superior was going to separate us and we couldn't stand the idea, so we just left."

When the train arrived in Kansas City, the two nuns went to the Bosom House, which is directly across the street from the union depot, and registered. They inquired of the clerk whether they could get work, and he assured them they could easily find a job. They went back to the depot and met Mrs. Kueffner and her niece, who were changing trains, and had breakfast with them.

Sister Regina told Mrs. Kueffner that her name was Katie Hansen, and that she had a brother living at Alton. Sister Virginia did not tell her name, but said that her parents lived at Minster, Westphalen, Germany. She said that she had been in the Franciscan order 10 years, but that she had not taken the final vow.

After Mrs. Kueffner arrived in California, she received a letter from the two nuns. They stated that they were nursing in private families. The letter closed by saying "we are so happy; we are afraid it won't last long."

After their departure from Belleville the first tidings of the two nuns received by the Franciscan order was when they went to the St. Mary's Hospital in Kansas City dressed in the habit of their order and applied for admission.

The Mother Superior at Belleville said Thursday night that both nuns are now back in the order and finally resigned to their separation. Sister Regina is at St. Joseph's Hospital in Chippewa Falls, Wis., and Sister Virginia is at the Sacred Heart Hospital, Eau Claire, Wis.

MILLIONAIRE TURNS FARMER DE LUXE; TO GO TO SCHOOL

Gerard S. Parsons Quits Bonne Terre Lead Corporation; Will Attend M. S. U.

HIS FARM MAGNIFICENT

Electric Lights Burn All Night All Over Place With Beautiful Roads.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. BONNE TERRE, Mo., July 18.—Although he was brought up in the lead mining business and was assistant manager of one of the largest lead companies of the United States, at a salary approximating that of a Cabinet minister, with a $14,000 house rent free, Gerard S. Parsons has resigned his official duties with the St. Joseph Lead Co., a $20,000,000 corporation, and will turn farmer.

Parsons' official connection with the lead company will cease Aug. 1, when he will go to the farm at Riverdale, Mo., with his wife, who was Miss Flora Bowman, daughter of Dr. G. A. Bowman of 3805 Delmar boulevard, St. Louis.

Parsons is one of the five heirs to the estate of C. B. Parsons, who first developed the lead belt of St. Francois County and left a fortune estimated at between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. The greater part of this estate is held in trust by the widow and will be distributed to the heirs at her death.

Farm Lighted Throughout Night. The farm to which Parsons will remove, while it has no more than 400 acres, probably is the best developed in Southern Missouri. Virtually the entire place is lighted with large electric arc lights, the power being brought from Herculaneum, a few miles south, and the site of the St. Joe company's smelting plant.

Tiled and graveled roads, built by the late millionaire miner, crisscross the estate, and along all the roads are electric lights which burn the night through. Along the Iron Mountain Railway tracks, which bound the estate on the west, is a 30-foot wall of solid masonry one-half mile long. The fields of the estate are in an intensive state of cultivation and there are large orchards of the best of grafted fruits.

Not having had much experience in agriculture, young Parsons will add to his meagre knowledge by taking the winter course at Missouri State University—that known as the "shorthorn course."

MILLIONAIRE WHO QUILTS BIG LEAD COMPANY FOR FARM, AND HIS WIFE

MISS FLORENCE BOWMAN

INTRUDER IN HOTEL IS SHOT IN STREET CHASE AT 1:30 A. M.

Knocked Down and Beaten, He Gets Away, Crowd Watches Policeman Fire at Him.

John Lee awoke in his room on the second floor of the Lafayette Hotel, Eighth and Chestnut streets, at 1:30 a. m., Friday, and saw the form of a man crouching in a corner. Lee sat up in bed, and as the man darted past him toward the door, tried to grab him, but the intruder escaped from the room.

Lee put on a bath robe and, calling to the night clerk, J. O. Davis, gave chase. The stranger ran into a toilet room on the first floor, and a moment later ran out. Lee and Davis were waiting for him.

Lee hit him under the right arm, striking him, and when he got up, struck him again, knocking him down. Again the man arose and this time struggled with Lee. They reached the sidewalk and Lee knocked him down again and fell on top of him.

Called for a Policeman. A number of persons gathered and began yelling for a policeman. A man sitting in the window of a third-floor room at Ninth and Chestnut streets joined in the calls for police.

Sgt. Jeremiah Hickey, on strike duty at the Maryland Hotel, Ninth and Pine streets, heard the call. The man at Ninth and Chestnut streets told Hickey that a man was being murdered at Eighth and Chestnut streets. As Hickey approached the corner, he saw a man break through the crowd and run south on Eighth street. Hickey followed, and after commanding the fleeing man to halt, fired one shot at him. The man kept going, turning west on Market street. Hickey reached the corner in time to see him run into 35 Market street. Hickey searched the house but could find no trace of him.

Bullet Wound in Back. A half hour later Hickey reported the escape to Police Headquarters. The city dispensary had just reported that a man with a fresh bullet wound in his back had applied there for treatment. Hickey placed him under arrest and called Lee and Davis to see him. They identified him as the man they had chased.

The man said he was William Holmes, 25 years old, an electrician. Besides the bullet wound he had several scalp wounds and a cut under the left eye. Holmes said that he had no intention of committing robbery and that he entered Lee's room by mistake. He said he was in the house at 35 Market street when he saw him run into 35 Market street. Hickey searched the house but could find no trace of him.

He did not return. Shortly before noon a telephone message was received by his son, Linn T. Piper, sales manager of the company, which he at once communicated to his brother, William Piper. Both put on their coats and hats and hurried from the store, without stopping to explain to Boliman, who was busy with a customer.

Boliman did not know of the death of his business associate until a Post-Dispatch reporter told him of it shortly before 3 o'clock.

Soon after the news of Piper's death reached the store, the establishment was closed for the afternoon, and a man was stationed at the door to refuse admittance to customers and other callers.

Receives From Bookkeeper. Piper was born near Decatur, Ill., in 1888, and lived on a farm until he was 21 years old. He later worked in a Deatur photograph gallery, and after his marriage in 1908 he came to St. Louis and was engaged by Boliman Bros. as a collector. He rose to bookkeeper, cashier and secretary, and in September, having become the largest stockholder in the Boliman company, he was elected vice-president and general manager. Two years ago he became president and treasurer.

BREWERY INTEREST HELPED BARTHOLOMEW, SAYS COL. MULHALL

INDEFINITE DELAY LIKELY ON A. & M. FREE BRIDGE BILLS

No Light Thrown on Backers of Promoters at Special Council Hearing on Measures and the Assembly Is Expected to Adjourn Soon Until Fall.

COUNCILMEN OPPOSE ANY HASTY ACTION

Setting of Date for Bonds Vote Favored; if There Is No Legislation in the Meantime Reber Approach Will Continue to Stand.

Following the Council hearing Thursday night on the Kiel-Kinney administration ordinance authorizing the construction of an East Side approach to the free bridge along the right-of-way of the Alton & Mississippi Belt Railway and Transportation Co., Council leaders told a Post-Dispatch reporter that action on the proposed ordinance will be postponed indefinitely. The assembly is expected to adjourn July 25, and reconvene about Oct. 15.

Before the summer recess is taken, however, the Assemblymen favor the passage of an ordinance setting a date for the special election to vote bonds for the completion of the bridge. This can be done immediately. If no further legislation on the approach question were enacted, the present located Reber approach would stand, as the ordinance providing for its construction never has been repealed.

Councilman Rowe, after the meeting, said that he knew as much or as little as he had ever known about the Alton & Mississippi and he was disappointed at not learning the names of the financial backers of the enterprise.

Rest for the Assembly.

"The weather is warm," said Rowe, to the Post-Dispatch reporter, "and the Assembly is entitled to a rest. I think the bridge talk is beginning to wear on the nerves of the people. We are not ready, I believe, to pass on the Alton & Mississippi route without the most complete information concerning the company, its financial status and the project of building a railroad in conjunction with the bridge. At the same time, I do not see how the Assembly can act on this bill unless the members are ready to stay here all summer."

Councilman M. H. R. Arenas voiced the sentiment of the five other new members of the Council when he declared to a Post-Dispatch reporter that it was useless to consider the Alton & Mississippi proposition until that company was prepared to make known its identity to the Assembly.

"It strikes me as the height of impudence for a little clique of promoters to demand attention from this Assembly when they refuse the simple courtesy of presenting cards of identification," said Arenas. "The company, on its own showing, is entitled to no consideration. Why don't its representatives come before us with open hands, if they expect to get a friendly hearing? Why should city officials or the Assembly waste time on a corporation capitalized at $5,000,000 with a board of directors, seeking to make the City of St. Louis the tail of their kite on the free bridge problem?"

"I don't believe the members of this Assembly have any idea of giving this 'hunch' any serious thought, notwithstanding the fact that the ordinance have been drawn under the direction of President Kinsey of the Board of Public Improvements."

Gerhart Opposes Bill.

The hearing was addressed by Philip W. Haberman, a counsel for the Alton & Mississippi, and Frank H. Gerhart and Cornelius Fauntleroy, who spoke in opposition to the pending bill. Haberman said that the bills accepting the proposed Alton & Mississippi approach were the work of President Kinsey of the B. P. I. and not of his company and therefore he did not feel called upon to advocate their adoption. There were some features of the bill, Haberman added, to which his clients probably will object. He said he preferred to hear what might be said regarding the bill and that not later than next Tuesday he would send to the Assembly a formal communication setting forth the views of the Alton & Mississippi on the measures.

President Kinsey said that he attended the meeting solely to learn what comments would be made on the approach bill.

"If there is anything wrong with the proposition involved in these bills, I want to know it," he said. Frank H. Gerhart said that there was nothing in the ordinance under consideration to prevent the Terminal Association from acquiring at any time 51 per cent of the stock of the Alton & Mississippi road and keeping St. Louis now, as it has for years, at its mercy.

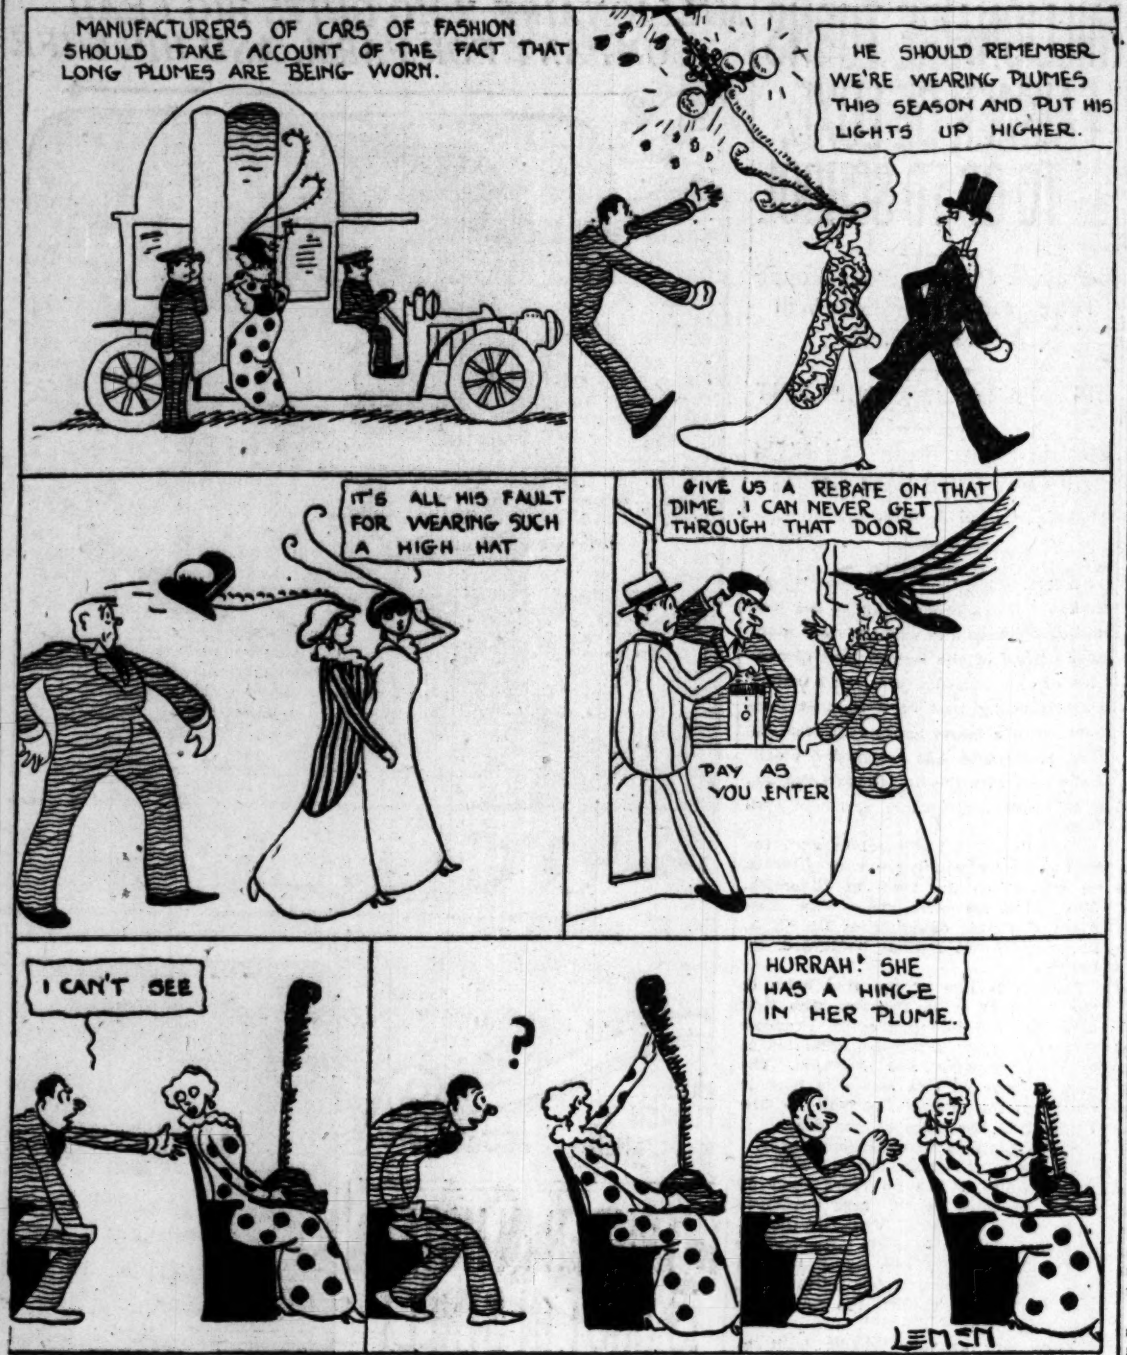

"If the Alton & Mississippi plan goes through the free bridge will be subject to the rights of private contract, with an alien corporation, having nothing in common with the city of St. Louis, and the city will have lost its paramount rights of eminent domain," said Gerhart.

Rights of St. Louis.

"The power to condemn land conferred upon the city of St. Louis in connection with the bridge is paramount to the rights of the State of Illinois, but it is no more than the bridge deal with a

New Way to Get a Rebate

A Paris court has just granted a $200 rebate from an automobile manufacturer to Count de Kerpoy because the roof of the limousine he purchased was too low to accommodate the high plumes which the Count's wife wore on her hat.

few real estate speculators and the approach is built along the right of way connecting with their proposed railroad, St. Louis may as well turn over the bridge to the Terminal monopoly and stop its efforts to free the traffic of this city from that competition-throttling corporation.

"Ninety per cent of the traffic originates from the northeast, and yet it is proposed to build the approach to the bridge to the southeast, going away from the traffic. Isn't that suggestion monstrous folly? Last year $7,000,000 tons of freight were transported across the Mississippi River at St. Louis, according to figures compiled by the Merchants' Exchange. Thirty million tons originated east of the river and the balance west of the river. Now, of this 30,000,000 tons, if the toll was 10 cents, there would be added $3,000,000 a year to the burden of St. Louis commerce, provided the road would be required to pay that sum for the use of the free bridge terminals on the east side of the river.

"Now, the bills before you show that the Alton & Mississippi is to name the terms under which the other roads are to use its belt line, and I would not say that 10 cents is an unreasonable charge on a ton of freight. But why should the Alton & Mississippi, any more than the Terminal or any corporation, be placed in a position to dictate terms to roads crossing the Mississippi River over the municipal bridge?"

Illinois Board Report.

Gerhart prefaced his remarks by reading from the annual report of the Illinois Railroad and Warehouse Commission a statement concerning the assets of the Alton & Mississippi Co.

It was shown that the company owns 51 acres of land worth about $7,000, against which there is a mortgage of $38,000, the total amount of the company's capital stock. Michael Peinberg of Chicago is president. Gerhart emphasized the point that the Alton & Mississippi Co. is a foreign corporation and any disputes with the city would be taken to the Federal courts.

Gerhart assailed the promoters of the Alton & Mississippi, who, he said, had tried to block the free bridge three years ago.

"They contended then," said he, "that Congress had no right to grant to the City of St. Louis power to condemn land for a bridge approach and they fought us in the courts on that proposition and lost."

"That unfair adversary, the Alton & Mississippi, is now trying to make terms with the city."

"No Private Bargains."

"As for Mr. Kinsey's part in the drafting of this ordinance, I have only to say that Mr. Kinsey on two or three occasions, once before a meeting of the Real Estate Exchange, went on record in favor of the northeast approach to the bridge and declared it was the real solution of the problem. But, gentlemen, I am not insisting on the northeast approach."

"An approach that will be so constructed as to free the commerce of the city, I care not where it extends, will be satisfactory to me. But the city itself must own the approach and control it for all time. There must be no private bargains made with private corporations on behalf of the citizens of St. Louis."

Kiel's Solution of Problem.

Mayor Kiel, when the Alton & Mississippi proposition was submitted to the Assembly, announced that he thought the adoption of this approach would solve the bridge problem. He announced himself as unequivocally opposed to the Northeast or Gerhart ap-

How Lecturing Pays Better Than Statecraft

WASHINGTON, July 18.—FOR his lecture at Mountain Lake Park W. J. Bryan received a guarantee of $250, one-half of all receipts over $500, probably making several hundred dollars more, and all expenses.

approach to the bridge and said he would likely have to ask for the repeal of the Reber approach ordinance.

"The people don't want the Reber approach," he said, "and we have got to give them what they want. The Alton & Mississippi proposition looks good to me and I take pleasure in giving it my endorsement. At the same time, I favor any approach which the Assembly decides on, so long as the northeast approach is left out of consideration."

LABORER SELLS PRICE OF FIVE BEERS FOR $6.50

About to Spend Coin in Saloon When Bystander Notes Date Is 1805.

While William Tipton, a laborer, was digging in the excavation for the new city jail near the Municipal Courts building, late Thursday, he found a quarter.

"Hey, Bill, here's luck!" he called to a chum. "Let's go across and get a tall one."

They went to a saloon and ordered beer. While the bartender was drawing it, Tipton looked at the coin closely and saw it bore the date 1805. He called attention to the date and a bystander, after glancing at the coin, said:

"What's the use of spending that for two or three little drinks? You give your enough for it to buy a barrel of beer."

"How much will you give?" asked Tipton.

"Oh, $5.00."

"Pay me," Tipton remarked, as he showed the coin towards the stranger. He paid for the drinks out of the $5.00 and went back to the excavation to see if he could dig up any more old money.

BEQUESTS TO GLENNON IN MRS. BAILEY WILL UPHELD

Circuit Judge Rassieur handed down a decision Friday upholding certain provisions in the will of Mrs. Anna Lawrence Hamilton Bailey, who bequeathed parts of her $200,000 estate to Archbishop Glennon. She died in September, 1910.

The only person named in the will besides Archbishop Glennon, who was directed to see that large sums of money were equally divided between Catholic institutions, was Clarence Hobbs, Jr., who was bequeathed $15,000 worth of bank stock. Another provision left $20,000 worth of real estate to be divided between St. Luke's Hospital and the Protestant Orphans' Home of Webster Groves. This also was attacked.

The St. Louis Union Trust Co., executors of the will, brought the suit to have the will legally construed. Relatives not mentioned in the document raised the point that the bequests to the Archbishop were void because they were indefinite.

BRYAN TO RETURN FOR CONFERENCE WITH H. L. WILSON

He Will Hurry From Lecture Engagement When Mexican Ambassador Arrives.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, at Mountain Lake Park, Md., delivered one of the lectures he has scheduled for the next six weeks to add to his salary as a member of President Wilson's Cabinet. He came back today to attend the conference between the President and the Ambassador to Mexico, Henry Lane Wilson. Thus the "Commoner" will have to lose some of his profits by canceling two, or possibly more, lecture dates. The President said that Bryan would be in Washington to attend the conference.

Bryan will leave Washington on his long trip Saturday night. The Secretary said he would make his itinerary public just before departing.

Will Be in Middle West.

Most of the lectures are to be delivered in the Middle West and it will be from there that Bryan will hurry back to Washington when Ambassador Wilson arrives here. In Bryan's absence, John Bassett Moore will be acting Secretary of State and will deal with all the important problems before the department.

No large question is settled by a Cabinet officer. President Wilson, ever since he entered the White House, has been the final judge of all big questions in all the departments under him.

The satirical and humorous references in the British press to Bryan's statement that he cannot live with his salary of $12,000 has driven Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, than whom there is no purer Democrat, to Bryan's defense.

James has announced his intention of making a speech in the Senate defending Bryan. James threatens to reveal some expense account secrets of the State Department and tell how much time previous secretaries gave to their duties.

$1500 for Formal Dinners.

It is to be brought out how Bryan refuses to charge his private entertaining expenses to the Government, which other Secretaries very carefully did. Bryan has spent about $1500, since taking office, on elaborate luncheons and dinners given to foreign notables, for which he has not given an expense account. These functions were formal affairs, given in hotels, outside his own house.

The principal ones were a farewell dinner to James Bryce, the retiring British Ambassador; a luncheon to Dr. Mueller, Foreign Minister of Brazil, and a luncheon to a visiting Japanese delegation. It was at the Bryce dinner that grape juice appeared. Bryan is faithful to the dollar dinner idea. His traveling expense accounts reveal that the fixed price of every meal, particularly on dining cars, is $1.

BOARD ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF CHARLES MELLEN

New Haven Road President to Retire as Soon as a Successor for Him Is Chosen.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Charles S. Mellen's resignation as president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. was accepted by the directors this afternoon.

The resignation is to be effective upon the appointment of his successor, whose selection was left in the hands of a special committee.

It has been suggested in some quarters that Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific might succeed him and that the change would take place not later than Oct. 1.

Announcement of Mellen's resignation followed a long meeting of the directors, most of whom, including William Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan, were present.

No surprise in Street.

In railroad and financial circles Mellen's decision will excite no surprise. In fact, during the day in Wall street and elsewhere it was generally understood that the day would mark virtually the end of the Mellen administration.

Charles Sanger Mellen, whose recent management of the New Haven road has given rise to considerable criticism, became president of that system in October, 1903, resigning from the presidency of the Northern Pacific Railway at the request of J. P. Morgan, who regarded Mellen as the man best fitted to reorganize the chaotic transportation lines of the New England State.

Mellen's immediate predecessor, John M. Hall, had managed the road with all the conservatism which marked the administration of corporate affairs, especially in New England, in the previous decade. Mellen's advent was the signal for a vast scheme of construction, embracing not only the Boston & Maine Central Railroad, but all the long and short lines between New York and Boston and intermediate points, as well as numerous trolley lines in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire. The capitalization of the New Haven System increased enormously under the continuous outlays accruing from the acquisitions.

The steady decline of New Haven shares in the local and Boston stock markets has been a matter of comment for several years. New Haven, which for many years sold at and above $90 and for a long period paid 8 per cent dividends, recently went below par in anticipation of a cut in the dividend, which was reduced to 6 per cent.

Mellen's resignation followed the alleged mismanagement of the New Haven and wrecks which were costing many lives finally resulted in definite action and a committee of New England stockholders, led by George von L. Meyer, former Secretary of the Navy, was organized to make an investigation of the road's affairs. That committee's experts are now at work on the company's books.

Mellen is under Federal indictment for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws and an indictment for manslaughter, resulting from the Westport, Conn., wreck of last year, also is hanging over him. It is known that an influential factor in the board favors the sale of the company's water lines and many, if not all, its trolley roads. It is believed the New Haven also will relinquish the Boston & Maine Road.

According to the exhaustive examination made by the New Haven System, its assets are estimated at close to $500,000,000 against liabilities of $394,000,000.

BRYAN'S LECTURES CAUSE AN ANGRY DEBATE IN SENATE

While living on $12,000 salaries; that subordinates in the Government departments would not be allowed to do other work while holding their positions; and that because of his previous attitude before the people Mr. Bryan should have felt an obligation to live within more rigid lines.

"For more than 15 years Mr. Bryan has posed as a public censor of men and measures," said Senator Townsend. "He has preached the duties of citizenship and assumed to establish standard of public service. His public acts, therefore, more than those of any one man except the President, are of influence in the fixing of standards of public service and public policy. If the American people remain silent at this time and by their silence give their inferential approval or assent to the policy Mr. Bryan has announced, that attitude of an official toward his duties must be assumed to be a permanent feature of our governmental institutions."

NEGRO BURGLAR TRAILS POLICEMEN SEEKING HIM

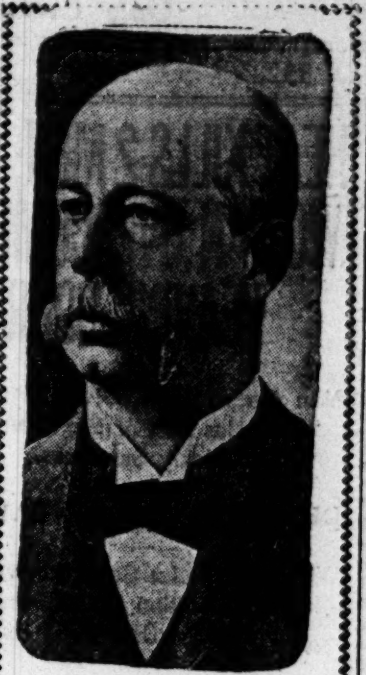

While two policemen, revolvers in hand, were hunting for a negro burglar in an alley about 11 o'clock Friday morning, the negro was following along behind them, apparently under the impression that there was the safest place for him to be. That at least is a version of the affair witnesses telephoned to police headquarters.

The negro was caught trying to break into an open-air theater office at Sixteenth and Chestnut streets by two negro women. One of the women called Patrolman Con Lane, who was on Sixteenth street, and the other called Patrolman Will Musgrave, who was on Seventeenth street.

The policemen rushed toward each other through the alley back of the theater. Spectators say the negro jumped behind a fence and hid until Musgrave had passed him. Musgrave and Lane met and Lane turned and went east with Musgrave.

The negro calmly emerged from his hiding place, followed them to the end of the alley and disappeared in the crowd which had collected at the first alarm.

JOHNSON BRIDAL PARTY BREAKS TOAST GLASSES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 18.—Following the custom of breaking the drinking cup used in the toast to the bride, Andrew W. Johnson, son of a St. Louis shoe manufacturer, and a party of his wedding attendants tossed out glass wine glasses to the ceiling of the blue room of the Hotel Peabody early Wednesday morning.

According to reports in Memphis society circles the father, Jackson Johnson, gave his son $25,000 with which to celebrate the wedding in true style and entertain friends.

The toast or rather toasts, to the bride proved of the expensive variety, in both cut glass and champagne, as $200 of glass was thrown to the winds.

WOMAN WAITS 50 YEARS; SUES FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

Plaintiff, 67, Says Her Sweetheart, 77, Proposed in War Days.

PATERSON, N. J., July 18.—Miss Emma Mahaney, 67 years old, of Westcott, O., asks $25,000 from John Wolff, a 77-year-old veteran of the Civil War and a retired merchant in papers which have been served upon him here, alleging breach of promise.

Miss Mahaney asserts she has not seen Wolff since their separation in '63, when he went to the front, after, it is alleged, he had proposed to her. She says she has waited 50 years in the hope that her sweetheart of youthful days would some day wed her, and that she was recently encouraged by a second proposal of marriage by mail, but later received word that the marriage would never take place.

She has forwarded scores of alleged love letters, many of them containing poems.

F. O. WATTS PRESIDENT OF THIRD NATIONAL BANK

Frank O. Watts was elected president of the Third National Bank Friday to fill the vacancy created by the death of Charles H. Huttig.

Watts came to St. Louis from Nashville two years ago to take charge of the bank following Huttig's physical breakdown. During Huttig's illness, Watts was last vice-president of the bank. He had been intimately associated with Huttig in the affairs of the American Bankers' Association, and it was at the suggestion of Huttig that he came to St. Louis.

Customers of the bank congratulated Watts following his election. He has large business interests in the South. In addition to his holdings in Third National.

ECHOES WILL BE REMOVED FROM TEMPLE ISRAEL

Pittsburg Acoustic Expert Employed to Make Surface Changes on Walls.

By changes in the surfaces of the walls in Temple Israel, an attempt will be made this summer to banish the echo which has annoyed speakers and audiences in that otherwise admirable auditorium. Jacob Maser of Pittsburg, "acoustical engineer," will do this work, in which several thousand dollars will be expended.

The defect in the acoustics of the temple is like that which caused complaint in the Century Theater, formerly the New Theater, in New York. There have been rumors that similar trouble was anticipated in the new St. Louis Cathedral, but Archbishop Glennon, when seen about this matter, declared there was no reason for such apprehensions.

Maser has made a long study of acoustical defects in buildings, and has been successful in remedying them. One of his successes in this line was the remodeling of the House of Commons chamber of the Canadian Parliament building in Ottawa. The echo there, which amounted to a maddening reverberation, was removed by the changes made under Maser's supervision.

Acoustics is the last branch of the building art to be placed on a scientific basis. Until very recently it was believed that the acoustic properties of a building were largely a matter of luck, and that there was no remedy for bad acoustics except to tear the building down and take a chance with a new one.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

6 months' advertising in St. Louis Newspapers

THE agate lines of advertising (less cheap city contract legal) carried by the St. Louis newspapers for the first 6 months of 1913, were as follows:

POST-DISPATCH . 5,660,360 lines
Globe-Democrat . . . 3,548,700 lines
Republic 2,597,100 lines
Times (no Sunday) . . . 2,421,600 lines
Star 1,518,300 lines

5,660,360 lines is the greatest volume of business ever carried by the POST-DISPATCH or, of course, any other St. Louis newspaper, for the same relative period with the single exception of 1911, when the POST-DISPATCH carried 50 columns more.

The figures in the above table are a correct index to the relative merits of the St. Louis papers as experienced advertisers have found them.

Over 80% of the circulation of the Daily POST-DISPATCH is in the prosperous families of St. Louis and its suburbs.

The circulation of the big SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH is always over 300,000, of which 40% is in its home city and suburbs and 60% in the Central, Western, Southern and Southwestern States.

You cannot cover St. Louis and contiguous territory without the POST-DISPATCH, while you can practically cover it completely with the POST-DISPATCH alone.

"First in Everything"

PRESIDENT'S CHIEF PURPOSES TO GET FACTS ON MEXICO

Washington Suspects Exaggeration and Ambassador Wilson's Reports Even Have Said One Thing One Day and Given Different Version the Next.

BANKERS BELIEVED TO BE IN INTRIGUE

Limantour, in Paris, Blamed for Spreading Reports in Effort to Obtain Recognition of Huerta and Assure a Loan.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 18.—Consideration of the Mexican situation took much of the time of the President and the Cabinet at a regular session today.

Secretary Bryan had a long conference with the President before the other members arrived. Although reports are coming in from various sources, the administration is looking forward to first-hand information from Ambassador Wilson, on his way from Mexico City.

It again was stated authoritatively today that the attitude of the administration still was unchanged.

The Mexican problem immediately facing President Wilson is ascertaining the true state of affairs throughout that disturbed republic. When the President has obtained this information, he will be able to reply to the nation which two days ago inquired of the State Department whether the United States intended recognizing President Huerta of Mexico and what it intended doing toward ending the rebellion in Mexico.

Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson left Vera Cruz yesterday afternoon for Key West. He is expected to reach Washington Wednesday or Thursday.

For weeks the President and Secretary of State have been receiving contradictory reports from him. One day he would state that all was quiet, and the next day would give accounts of fighting and political intrigue. The reports from consuls and consular agents stationed throughout Mexico were much the same.

Reports Said to Be False. The President and his advisors have reached the conclusion that many reports of depredations and intrigues are false, or at the least, greatly exaggerated. They were forced to the opinion that the reported demonstrations in Mexico City, a few days ago, against Americans were fomented and manufactured by a small group of Mexicans, who are trying to force the United States Government into recognizing Huerta.

A few days ago four or five foreign representatives in Mexico signed a document, which they sent to their governments, and which stated that there was anti-American feeling in Mexico and that Americans were held responsible for the continued warfare there. They added that the failure of President Wilson to recognize Huerta largely was responsible for the chaotic conditions throughout the republic.

Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson knew of the action of the foreign representatives. He did not inform the State Department of it. The first news the State Department and the President received of such action was when the representative of Great Britain laid before Secretary of State Bryan the substance of the report his office had received from Mexico.

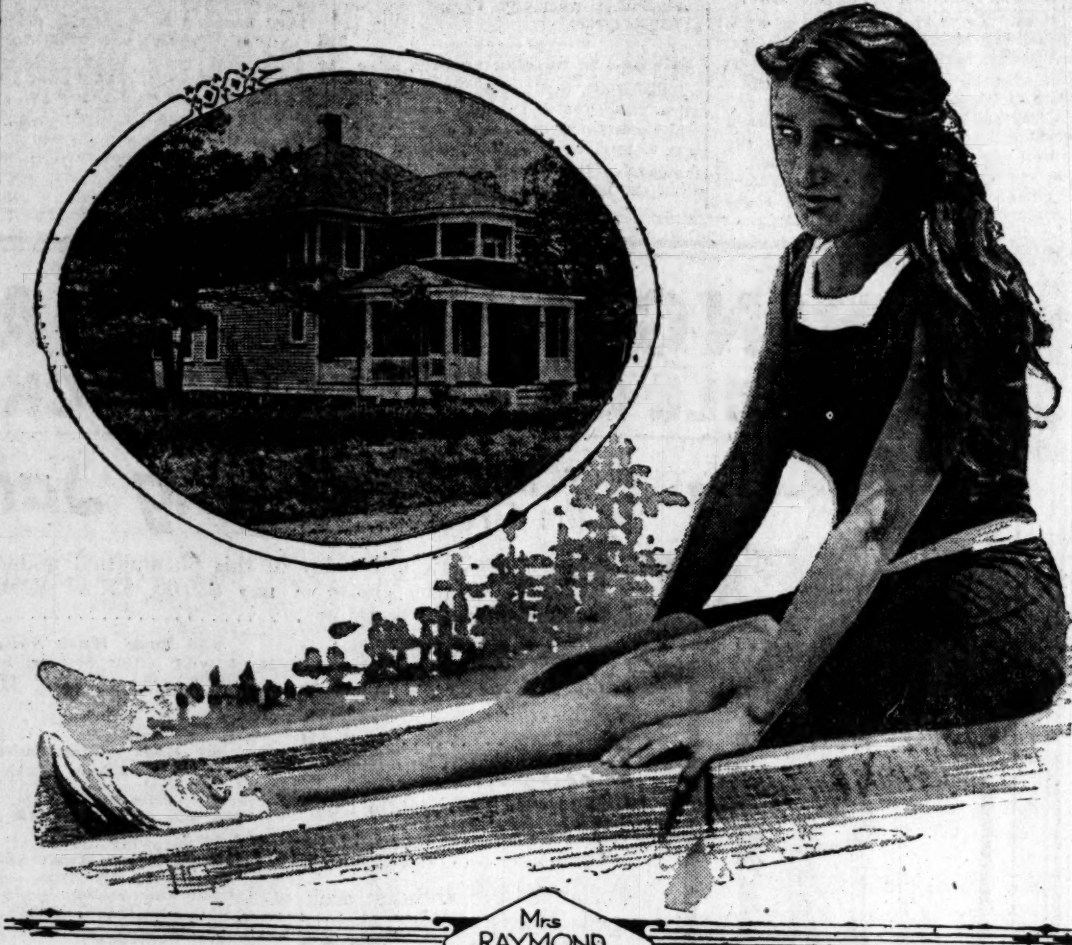

It was denied at the State Department that any demand for prompt action by the United States in Mexico had been made by any government. In answer to the representations made consisted of laying reports in Mexico before the Secretary of State.

The impression is general that some of the foreign bondholders in Mexico have conspired to send out misleading reports. France is a heavy investor in Mexican utilities and government bonds. The value of these bonds have depreciated considerably in the last few months.

"Limantour a Conspirator." José Limantour, Minister of Finance under President Porfirio Diaz, who has been in Paris since the downfall of Diaz two years ago, is looked upon as the engineer in the intrigue, to which Paris bankers are parties. If the United States would recognize Huerta, he would be able to borrow money with which to purchase arms, ammunition and soldiers. With these munitions of war it would be a question of only a few months, the conspirators believe, before the revolution would end.

ZOLNAY, WHOSE SOME FOR ARTISTS, TO GO TO WASHINGTON

Feels "Isolated" Here and Says St. Louis Guild Does Not Represent Local Talent.

George Julian Zolnay, sculptor, weary of his artistic "isolation" here, is about to shake the dust of St. Louis from his shoes and seek a more "intellectual center."

After a careful scrutiny of the map, he has decided the one great intellectual center where he shall not be a sort of artistic Robinson Crusoe is Washington, D. C.

Not that Washington has always been an Athens of Reason and the Soul. There have been times in Washington when sturdy representatives of the people, regarded the knife as the most useful instrument for carrying food to the mouth, when even Senators wore pocket handkerchiefs tucked in their collars to shield their shirt bosoms from flecks of "ambler," when Cabinet members scarcely knew a Venus de Milo from a Charlotte Russe.

But with the coming of Wilson to the presidency there has come to Washington a period when splitting an infinitesimal police court offense and wearing a green necktie with auburn hair is treason. In this esthetic atmosphere Zolnay believes he can come nearer finding the inspiration to which his genius entitles him than he ever could find in St. Louis, especially under present conditions.

Objects to Artists' Guild. One of the present conditions of which he complains is the St. Louis Artists' Guild. Zolnay resigned from the guild after a row over a lecture he had delivered and a criticism of Zolnay which appeared subsequently in a weekly publication. Zolnay also drew considerable attention by a criticism of "Naked Truth," the accepted design for the Schurz-Prentiss-Daenker memorial.

"Naked Truth," by Wandersneider, a German sculptor, was selected after a contest in which Zolnay and others submitted designs. The Artists' Guild does not represent the artistic element of the city, Zolnay said Friday. He declared that there is a large colony of capable artists in the city. But the Artists' Guild is controlled, he believes, through a combination of lesser lights. Once before the sculptor declared the guild was composed mainly of "poets, dancers and artistic small fry." This time he went a little further and said the whole trouble has been an inability to harmonize with the "alleged Bohemians, pseudo poets and other hangers-on" who sought a little "reflected glory" by association with intellectual persons.

In discussing the "Naked Truth" controversy and nude art in general, Zolnay occasionally found it necessary to resort to language that is not supposed to be the usual vehicle of artistic expression. Once he said "damn" in a good, round, mouth-filling way, and once or twice he used the words "gag" and "rot."

This was in discussing Wandersneider's "Naked Truth." Burst of Artistic Temper. "Any one of the four designs submitted was a damned sight better than the one selected," he declared, in a burst of artistic temper. He went further even than that. He called the Wandersneider design a "cheap piece of masonry," declared its selection was a distinct discouragement to the artists of the country who admitted they made art only when properly drugged.

"The old gag about everything being pure to the pure is rot," he exclaimed, "and will not be swallowed longer by the public. The Greeks had their nude art, and that is one of the reasons why the country became so numerous and decadent and went to hell as it did."

"Some persons think it proper to put the statue of a naked woman on the street, but I do not. We teach our children not to show their naked figures above the ankles. Yet they try to reconcile the display of a naked woman to these same children as art."

Zolnay came to St. Louis from New York to take charge of the sculpture exhibit at the World's Fair and remain here. He has been successful both from the commercial and the artistic standpoints. He says he has now $60,000 worth of work under way.

TRAINMEN WANT ISSUES SPLIT IN ARBITRATION

NEW YORK, July 18.—The 56,000 trainmen and conductors, who threatened a strike against Eastern railroads, will not agree under any circumstances to have the roads' grievances arbitrated at the same time as the men's demands for better wages under the Newlands amendment to the Erdman act, according to W. G. Lee and A. B. Garretson, presidents respectively of the trainmen's and conductors' brotherhoods.

Mr. Lee declared that if the railroads persist to have their own grievances arbitrated, it is absolutely certain a strike will follow.

The formal statement of the trainmen was sent as a letter to Elias Lee, chairman of the conference committee of managers. It was prepared as a result of a meeting of the trainmen's committee of 100 held yesterday to consider the announcement of the roads that they intend to have of the roads' grievances incorporated in the agreement to arbitrate.

CONTEMPT ORDER ASKED FOR STATE SENATOR BROGAN

Circuit Attorney Asks Citations in His Inquiry Into Professional Bondsman.

Circuit Attorney Harvey's office asked in Judge Kinsey's court Friday that citations for contempt be issued against State Senator Joseph H. Brogan and four other saloon keepers, on the grounds they had refused to answer questions put to them by the grand jury.

The other saloon men are John Golden, 1302 Morgan street; John Kelley, 1306 Lucas avenue; Joseph H. Royce, 301 North Twelfth street, and John Miller, Twenty-third street and Washington avenue. Senator Brogan's place is at 28 North Fifteenth street.

The charge was that the men had refused to answer questions about transfers of property on the ground that the answers might incriminate them. The grand jury is investigating the methods of bondsmen in the courts.

The Circuit Attorney's office contended that the transfer of property was not in itself an offense against the laws, although a transfer of property to avoid responsibility on a bond might be. All the jury had asked these men was whether they had made certain transfers.

ROMANIAN ARMY IS COUNTED UPON TO ENTER SOFIA TODAY

St. Petersburg Believes Troops of Enemies Will Take Control of Bulgar Capital.

LONDON, July 18.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says it is thought there that the Rumanian troops may enter Sofia Friday.

New Bulgarian Cabinet Formed by the Liberals. SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 18.—A coalition Cabinet was formed today by M. Radoslawoff, the Liberal leader in the Bulgarian Parliament, to take the place of the Cabinet of Premier Danef, which recently resigned. The new cabinet consists of Liberals and Nationalists. M. Guesadoff has been appointed foreign minister.

saloon men, argued that the Supreme Court had held a man might determine in his own mind what information would tend to incriminate him. Judge Kinsey took the matter under advisement until next week.

It is understood the grand jury is trying to find out whether, in certain cases, professional bondsmen have transferred property back to forth among each other for nominal sums so that the property could not be held for bond for seizures.

One Passenger Blocked Behind Freight When the Other, Running in Fog, Strikes It.

By Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—Big Four passenger train No. 11 plowed into the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern passenger train, due in Cleveland at 4:35 a. m., between Perry and Madison, east of here, early today, when the Lake Shore train was held up by a freight, stalled ahead of it.

It splintered the dining car and telescoped the next car, a Pullman, injuring 12 persons. Eight of the injured, all occupants of the dining car, were brought to a Cleveland hospital in a special train. The others are being treated at Madison and Perry. None is thought to be fatally hurt.

The injured brought here were R. W. Buchanan, Ludlow, Ky., conductor and seven members of the dining car. The Lake Shore train, stalled by the freight, was standing on the main track. A flagman was sent back to stop No. 11, which leaves the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern tracks at Cleveland, and turns southward on the Big Four tracks to Columbus.

Owing to a fog, the trainmen believe, his light was not visible to the engineer of the Big Four train.

BUSH TO BUILD FEEDER LINES FOR WESTERN PACIFIC

Missouri Pacific Head Tells Policy for Unified Management of Roads to Coast.

By Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—More money—lots of it—and more feeders for the Western Pacific Railroad are the first things to be considered following its consolidation into unified management with the Denver & Rio Grande and the Missouri Pacific railroads. Benjamin F. Bush, president of the latter road, who has arrived here with a staff of railroad officials, thus outlined his policy.

"The Western Pacific has to have money," he said, "and we all know the money market is tight. I raised upwards of $6,000,000 for the Missouri Pacific and Rio Grande under far more discouraging conditions, and I don't think there will be any tremendous obstacles in the path of getting enough money for the Western Pacific."

"The road now resembles a bridge from Salt Lake to San Francisco. It hasn't any feeders. We propose to build feeders for it."

Alexander Robertson, Bush said, will be assistant to the president of the three roads, and J. M. Johnson, traffic director of the Missouri Pacific & Rio Grande, will extend his jurisdiction to include the Western Pacific. One general manager for the three roads will be named later.

Finley Shepherd, Bush said, has been elected on the Rio Grande directorate, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Vice-President Schlicks of the Western Pacific.

WANTED SECRET WEDDING

St. Louisan Offered $1 at Belleville, but Was Refused.

Joseph Trocetta, 28 years old, and Anna Lense, 29, both of South Broadway, St. Louis, were so eager to be married secretly that they went to Belleville. When they applied for a license to J. C. Boquet Trocetta told him he wanted the issuance of the license kept secret and said he would pay a dollar for the favor.

When Boquet told him he could not suppress the news Trocetta said he would go back to St. Louis and be married.

SIMON AND GOLTRA IN HEATED TALK ON ST. LOUIS BIG CINCH

"You Belong to It," Said Physician to National Committeeman at Press Club Carnival.

When Dr. John H. Simon, recent Democratic nominee for Mayor, and Edward F. Goltra, national committeeman, met on the board walk at Delmar Garden at the Press Club carnival Wednesday night, passersby heard a brisk discussion of the last city campaign, the "Big Cinch" and the St. Louis postmaster.

Dr. Simon did most of the talking.

A man who was standing near and who considered he had a right to remain, as he was there before Dr. Simon and Goltra were, told the Post-Dispatch Friday of his recollections of the conversation.

Dr. Simon, when the listener's version was repeated to him, said that it was correct, and that, while he had not expected that his remarks would be published, it might be a good thing to make known some of the views he expressed to Goltra.

Goltra, who went to Chicago after the carnival, was said to be on his way to Omaha when an attempt was made to reach him by long-distance telephone at the Blackstone Hotel, Chicago, to ask his version of the affair.

Simon's version of the "Big Cinch."

According to the version of the dialogue given to the Post-Dispatch, and confirmed by Dr. Simon, the two met, remarked that they had not seen each other for some time, and then fell to discussing the St. Louis postmaster.

Dr. Simon is backing Colin M. Selph for Postmaster, and Goltra is said to be supporting Philip C. Scanlan, who has the active backing of Goltra's friend, former Mayor Wells.

"It would be a fatal mistake," said Dr. Simon emphatically, "to let the Big Cinch name the Postmaster of St. Louis."

"Will you please tell me," Goltra rejoined, "who is in the Big Cinch? I have heard a lot about the Big Cinch and I have been trying for a long time to learn who its members are."

"Well," the big physician blurted out, "you're one of the Big Cinch yourself, and Rolla Wells is another."

"Where does the Big Cinch meet?" persisted Goltra.

"In the St. Louis Club and the Noon-day Club," Dr. Simon replied. "There may not be a president, secretary and treasurer, but they meet all the same, and do their best to control finance, politics and public service corporations, and even to dictate who shall get into society."

"Why, one of the St. Louis Club waiters, who was a patient of mine, told me that two weeks before the election, Wells and two other Big Cinchers met and formed plans to beat me, and put up contributions for my defeat."

"I don't know about that," replied Goltra, rather testily. "I know I supported you, made speeches for you and gave money to your campaign."

"Had to support me," says Simon. "Your position on the National Committee required it. But in those speeches you talk about the election, once mentioned my name—just spoke for the fact that, for once, you didn't control the party in the primary."

"Why," Simon went on, "Rolla Wells scratched my name from the ballot at the April election openly, contemptuously, in the presence of the election officials, on the judge's table, not even going into a booth to do it."

Says Selph Scratched Wells.

"I'm not responsible for what Mr. Wells' son did," replied Goltra. "But I'll tell you what your man Selph did. He scratched Wells in the election of 1905, and voted for Talty for Mayor. How's that for party regularity in a man who's claiming the postmaster-ship?"

"I never heard of that before," said Simon, surprised by this thrust at Selph. "But if he did that, it wasn't as bad as Wells working against me, after the honors the party has given him, and not as bad as his voting twice, if not three times, against Bryan for President."

By this time the two saw that their wrangle was attracting attention, so they bade each other goodnight and forgot politics in enjoying the carnival.

Nugent's Employees' Picnic Saturday, July 19, Ramona Park.

The 100 employees of D. Nugent & Co. G. Co. enjoy their annual picnic at Ramona Park on Saturday next. A great day has been planned. The firm has provided 12 big roomy private trolley cars to take all to the grounds. Games, races and dances will be afternoon and evening pleasures. Twenty-five elegant prizes have been provided, ranging in value from a $25 suit of clothes to $1 in cash.

A band of music, 15 pieces, will accompany the picnicers, and tender dance music until 11 p. m. Several prize waiters, etc., are on the program for the evening.

The girls of the store have arranged numerous concessions, such as a spy tent, popular voting contests, etc. Many humorous events are scheduled, such as wheelbarrow races, potato races, egg and spoon contests, tug of war, etc.

COW DERAILS CAR; 3 HURT

Car Bounced 20 Yards and Stands on End.

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 18.—Three persons were seriously injured early today when a Rockford interurban trolley car struck a cow west of this city. The car was derailed and after bouncing along 20 yards stood on end.

Quint Anderson, was catapulted through the vestibule and badly cut about the head. Fred Collins and Conductor Morgan suffered wrenched backs and Mrs. Cora Gilbert of Winslow, Ill., was slightly cut about the chest. The injured were brought here to a hospital by farmers.

DRAFTS FOR $580 TAKEN BY PICKPOCKETS ON CAR

Illinois Robbed on Way to Delmar Garden — Salesman Loses $39 on Another Car.

Street car pickpockets stole a wallet containing drafts for $580 and $15 from the pocket of John D. Jansen of Pekin, Ill., when he and Jesse Black, a friend, were riding on the rear platform of a Delmar car to Delmar Garden Thursday evening. Jansen told the police they were about half way to the garden, he and his friend having boarded the car at Eighteenth street, when a man rushed from inside the car, said he had to get right off, crowded Jansen against some other men and then got out. Jansen lost his purse in this crush, he told the police.

George D. Russell, 46, a salesman, who stays at the Marquette Hotel, was robbed of $39 when on a Vandeventer car at Olive street.

49 Killed in Burning Sulphur Mine. PALERMO, Sicily, July 18.—A sulphur mine near Castel Termini, caught fire while many miners were at work. There was a terrible struggle to escape from the deadly fumes and it is estimated that 49 of the men were killed.

PAINTER IS SLUGGED BY 3 MEN AND BADLY HURT

Paul Richter's Eyes Are Closed and It Is Thought His Skull Is Fractured.

Paul Richter, 26 years old, married, a painter, residing at 2226 College avenue, was taken to the city hospital from Eleventh and Pine streets, at 11:30 p. m. Thursday, after he had been slugged by three men. His eyes were closed, his scalp was lacerated, and it was thought his skull was fractured.

According to the Central station police report, Richter, who is in business at 1225 Market street, and an argument with three painters employed by another concern, and these men attacked him. He furnished to the police the names of Eddie Hines, Fred Cox and John Sontag. The police are trying to find these men. Richter said he did not know what caused the attack.

IN WATER UP TO NECK 31 HOURS; 5 MINERS RESCUED

Last Night's Work Ends With Recovery of Last of the 15
Minnesota Miners.

EVELETH, Minn., July 18.—After standing in water up to their necks in pitch darkness for 31 hours, five miners were rescued last night from the Spruce Mine No. 1.

The men were trapped in the mine by a rush of water. Through interpreters the men, all foreigners, told their story.
They heard the guards warn the men when the water started rushing down the shaft, but they drew back at the sight of the swirling torrents. As the water crawled up they were submerged to their armpits. They attempted with picks and shovels to dam the drift. For a time they were unsuccessful, but at last they were able to check the water.
With water up to their necks, they waited for the rescuers, whom they heard working.

When the crew had blasted to within 40 feet, they made signals which were heard by the rescuers. Large chunks of debris fell about them.

Relatives of the entombed men cried for joy when the men appeared at the surface. The 15 men, imprisoned Wednesday have been rescued.

Recovered From Severe Lung Trouble

Plenty of fresh air and good food are necessary to persons suffering from lung trouble, but something more is needed to bring about full health. Eckman's Alternative is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, and so many reports have been received showing that it brought about good results in a number of cases which were declared hopeless, that all sufferers who are not benefiting otherwise should at least investigate what it has done for others. Investigate this case.

"Gentlemen: Madison Lake, Minn., March 1909, and September, 1909, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs, which confined me several weeks each time to my bed. My doctor advised me to go West.
In November I started for Denver, Colo. After my arrival I met Michael Brody, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Eckman's Alternative. In about two months I began to feel better. I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. In March, 1910,
I returned home with a good appetite and sleep well.
When I left Denver my weight was 115 pounds. I now weigh 140, my normal weight. I thank God and your Alternative for my health.

TARIFF IS CUT 27 PER CENT; SURPLUS TO BE $2,000,000

Final Slash, Made by the Senate, Amounts to 4 Per Cent From House Minimum.

READY FOR DEBATING

Farmers Get Benefits, Aside From Ultimate Free Sugar, Wool and Cotton.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 18.—An average reduction of 27.64 per cent from the rates of the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff is made in the Underwood-Simmons measure upon which the Senate began general debate today, according to the report of the Finance Committee majority submitted by the chairman, Senator F.
M. Simmons.

The report also shows that the bill, as reported to the Senate, provides rates 4.22 per cent lower than the Underwood bill as it passed the House and that from it, together with other Government receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, there will be an estimated surplus in the Government treasury of $2,000,000.

Big Addition to Free List.
A salient feature of this bill, it is pointed out, is the large increase of imports to be admitted free of duty.
Under the House bill the value of free listed imports, on the basis of 1912 importations was $100,000,000, whereas the Democrats of the Senate in caucus, by sweeping changes propose to free list imports valued at $167,967,000, an increase in dutiable imports over the House bill of $67,967,000.

Upon the basis of 10 months for the coming fiscal year the report estimates that the receipts from customs alone under the new bill will be $266,730,000, from income tax for 10 months, $154,350,000; corporation tax, $37,000,000; internal revenue, including tax on cotton futures, of $5,000,000, and that the revenue from all other sources will bring the total for the fiscal year to $988,810,000. With disbursements, estimated for the committee by the Treasury experts at $994,730,000 a balance is shown in favor of the Government of $1,020,000.
In analyzing its changes in the House administrative features of the bill the committee deemed the amendments of the House entirely too dramatic, particularly the authorized examination of books of foreign manufacturers, a 5 per cent tariff discount on imports in American ships and other like features which were stricken out.

Arranging Retaliatory Tariff.
Particular attention is called to the Senate provision "designed to furnish the President with power to impose tariff duties of a retaliatory character upon all articles comprised in a specified list," which includes many agricultural products. "For some years," says the report in referring to this retaliatory provision, "there has been a development of maximum and minimum tariffs abroad, and in not a few instances the Government of the United States has been compelled to see its citizens subjected to harsh and discriminating tariff treatment abroad without being able, under the law, to afford relief."

Of another important feature added by the Senate committee, a tax of one-tenth of one cent a pound on cotton sold through stock exchanges for future delivery, the report says:
"The committee believes the subject matter to be one fit for the imposition of a proper tax, not only because of its indirect influence in eliminating a parasite which has afflicted the business of dealing in purchases of cotton for future delivery, but because it will result in the collection of a considerable sum of revenue from a source which in its usual operation produced abnormal profits from a business that is not susceptible of just taxation in any other way."

Income Tax Rearranged.
Reduction of the basic exemption from income tax from $4000 as in the House bill to $3000 for unmarried persons, and the consequent rearrangement of this, the report comments upon as follows:
"Your committee reduces the amount of exemption of the net income to $3000 and allows on account of marriage an additional exemption of $1000 to either the husband or wife where they are living together, but not to both. In the case of a minor child or children living with and dependent upon parent such parent is allowed an additional exemption of $500 for one minor child up to $1000 on account of minor children except where both parents are taxable, in which case no exemption is allowable on account of children. By the amendment the lowest possible exemption to any one person must be $1000 and the highest possible exemption to any one person $5000."

Farmers Get Recognition.
The changes in all the schedules are dealt with at length in the report. Of agricultural products many of which were transferred to the free list in addition to those put there by the House, the committee has this to say:
"The House bill and amendments made by the Committee on Finance fully recognized the paramount interests of our agricultural population by placing agricultural implements of every kind and description, fence and baling wire, cotton bagging and ties, low-priced blankets, boots and shoes, cement, lime, lumber, coal, harness, saddles, cotton gins, wagons, carts, bagging for grain, wool and other bags, sewing machines and many other products of daily necessity, on the free list. In common with the rest of our people, our agricultural population will share in the benefits brought about by the reduction of the duties on sugar and its eventual elimination.
The substantial reductions made all along the line on cotton and woolen goods, wearing apparel of every description, on crockery, household furnishings and utensils, hardware and similar products of our factories, will reveal a considerable part of the burden of tariff taxation now borne by the farmer as well as the dweller in the city and the laborer in factory, fields and mines."

Metal Cut a Snap at Trust.
The sugar and wool schedules are left unchanged as to free sugar and free raw wool, but exactions by the Senate Committee in wool tops and yarns are explained, and sweeping reductions in the metal schedule are treated in the report with considerable comment. Pig iron, ferromangan-ese and other products were placed on the free list by the committee and the report says:
"The House bill places iron ore upon the free list mainly because it was found that the domestic supply of iron ore was largely controlled by the United States Steel Corporation and for the purpose of aiding the independent iron and steel manufacturers in their competition with this monopoly."

Sticks Revenue Only.
Concerning the general revision the Senate Committee says that following the lead of the House it "was sought in the amendment it proposes to the House bill to further carry out and perfect the theory of establishing a revenue producing tariff upon the basis of competitive rates, as a just and fair interpretation in the light of existing conditions of the latest authoritative utterances of the party in power upon that subject."

LORD BARRINGTON SEEKS A PARDON; HOUGHIN AIDS HIM

Recent gubernatorial Candidate and Mrs. Gates Help in Getting Signatures.

"Lord" F. Seymour Barrington, serving a life sentence at Jefferson City for the murder of J. P. McCann in St. Louis County in June, 1901, will have a hearing before the State Pardon and Parole Board whenever he gets his petitions and recommendations in shape for presentation. James A. Houghin, prison contractor and recent aspirant to the governorship, is helping him, and several members of the Legislature have signed his petition.

Barrington, who has insisted that the body found in the Bonilla quarry pond was not McCann's, now says he believes J. P. Mabrey, footrace swindler, is McCann.

The circumstances of Barrington's case twice have been reviewed, once by the Missouri Supreme Court, which affirmed his death sentence, and once by Gov. Folk, who commuted the sentence to life imprisonment, not because of any doubt of the prisoner's guilt, but because of aversion to the death penalty.

Women Aid the "Lord."

Mrs. Lillian E. Gates of 4923 Magnolia avenue has been an active worker in Barrington's behalf, and has obtained a number of the signatures on his petition.

Barrington's spectacular St. Louis career, the climax of a life of deceit and crime, was one of the most memorable episodes of the year before the World's Fair.

Barrington is just now denying that he is George Frederick Barron. He hitherto has denied this, and other facts of indisputable record, about his career. His identity as Barton was established beyond doubt by comparison of the Bertillon records of St. Louis and Scotland Yard, London, and by the joining together of photographs of Barrington and Barton, made to scale. The features fitted together perfectly to form the face so familiar to St. Louis newspaper readers of a decade ago.

He was an embezzler with a record of English prison terms, and a big shot when he came to St. Louis early in January, 1901. He had just abandoned his third wife, a Philadelphia girl of good family, in Cincinnati, after getting her money.

The day after Barrington became a guest at the Southern Hotel, a matrimonial advertisement mentioning an "honorable English gentleman (38) of high social rank," who desired to correspond with a "refined, non-mercenary, eligible lady," appeared in St. Louis papers.

Married Kansas City Girl.

The answers were apparently not satisfactory, for Barrington removed from the Southern to the home of Mrs. R. R. Elliott of 4383 West Belle place. Mrs. Elliott's young sister, Mary, married Grace Cochrane of Kansas City, Kan., was visiting her, and Barrington, attracted by the girl's beauty, was as ready to believe that she was a wealthy packer's daughter as she was to believe he was the owner of "Melrose Castle, Brighton, England." In fact, Miss Cochrane's family was in moderate circumstances, but she had a father and brother with true American spirit. As soon as they learned of her marriage to the Englishman, they suspected that something was wrong, and hurried to St. Louis. Arriving, and sizing up Barrington as a fraud, they kicked him down the steps of the Elliott home. For "conduct tending to provoke a breach of the peace" Barrington was sent to the workhouse.

In April, 1901, Mary Wells pardoned him, and a few days later the sign "Lord Barrington's Buffet" appeared over the entrance of a gaudy saloon on Broadway.

At the saloon he picked up an acquaintance with John F. McCann, horseman and all-round sporting man. McCann had money, and he spent it on Barrington.

On the night of June 19, 1901, Barrington and McCann went together on a St. Charles car, and got off at Bonilla station, near the Missouri River. Two shots were heard from the woods soon afterward, and McCann's pleas for mercy reached the ears of a watchman. The cries were stifled as the murderer, after twice shooting him, cut McCann's throat.

Barrington wound enough circumstantial evidence about himself to hang a dozen men. He returned wearing McCann's hat and coat, carrying his cane, and with McCann's money and watch in his pocket. He went to Mrs. McCann and told her that McCann had been kidnapped by two men and some women in a carriage, and that he, Barrington, had been knocked insensible in trying to defend him. Barrington was arrested, released, and re-arrested when, June 27, McCann's body was found.

Laura, to Roy G. Endres, son of E. Endres, retired Post Quartermaster Sergeant, of 6018 Horton place. The wedding will take place in September.

Dr. and Mrs. Ira C. Young of 4408 Laclede avenue will leave in a few days for a tour of the West, accompanied by their children. Mrs. Young and the children returned recently from Canada, where they were visiting for some time.

HALE RAPS COUNCIL IN DISCUSSION OF ST. LOUIS CHARTER

Former Member Urges Retention of House of Delegates System.

CITY NOT LIKE CLEVELAND

Board of Freeholders Confronted by a Complex Proposition.

Whether to write a progressive city charter under which St. Louis might have efficient city government, or frame one to meet demands of political bosses and job seekers for the purpose of enlisting their support in its adoption, is one big problem that is puzzling the Board of Freeholders.

Would the people of St. Louis adopt a progressive charter, such as was overwhelmingly ratified by the people of Cleveland recently? This question was put to Eugene Hale, former member of the House of Delegates, who appeared before the board Thursday night and advocated the retention of the House of Delegates, and the perpetuation of the ward system and the long ballot.

Hale replied that Cleveland had a different class of people than St. Louis, and that the people of St. Louis were too suspicious to take hold of new things.

"Do you think," asked Freeholder Judson, "that the people of St. Louis are less intelligent and progressive than the people of Cleveland?"

Would Not Commit Himself. Hale would not commit himself on this point, but declared it was folly to abolish the House of Delegates, because it was closer to the people than the Council, and more responsive to their demands.

"But it is closer to the people," asked Freeholder Aloe. "Do not the people of the ward go to their member of the House of Delegates for favors they have no right to ask?"

Hale said he thought not. He said he had found it necessary in the House of Delegates to kill many bills, affecting his ward, which had been slipped through the Council.

Hale appeared before the board to advocate his own plan for a legislative department for the city. He proposed that the Board of Public Improvements be comprised of nine members, elected by the people, each member to be ex-officio a member of the City Council. In addition, he advocated a Board of Aldermen comprised of 30 members, each to be paid a salary of $2000 a year. The Council-Board of Public Improvements members should be paid $2000 a year, he said.

He made a particularly vigorous attack upon the City Council of 1907. He said the six members elected that year represented the greatest aggregation of wealth of any Council in the history of the city, and created the greatest handicap under which St. Louis had ever worked.

No Excuse for Bridge Location.

He said there was no excuse for locating a free bridge at Chouteau avenue without having first acquired land on either side for approaches. He said the west approach of the bridge already had been built into a network of Terminal Railroad Association tracks, and that he did not think it made any difference where the east approach was built, as the Terminal already had the bridge.

Rich men, he declared, would not give attention to city affairs. He said when he went into the House of Delegates he held the view of most lawyers, doctors, preachers and other professional men that some of the representatives from the river wards possessed no qualifications for membership in the House of Delegates.

"The House reformed me, though," he said. "I found these men who had been condemned before the election as unfit and unqualified, made the very best representatives, while millionaires, lauded as eminently qualified, were the worst misfits, and made execrable blunders."

Should Change Name.

Hale said the name of the lower branch of the Municipal Assembly should be changed from House of Delegates to Board of Aldermen. The House of Delegates had been in such disrepute for years, he said, that the people seemed to have no confidence in it. "You think," suggested Freeholder Spencer, "that a rose would smell sweeter under another name?"

"Certainly," said Hale. "This is an age of evolution. The people's memories are short. They would soon forget about the House of Delegates and its past record."

The discussion of the short ballot led to the question as to whether the workingman or the banker exercised the greater degree of intelligence in voting. Hale insisted the voters were fully capable, with the aid of the political ward workers, "who would gladly show them how" to cast intelligent votes on a great number of candidates.

Hale and members of the Board exchanged stories to prove that men in the ordinary walks of life, even alien-born citizens, were better informed on matters of national, state and city government than professional and business men.

Opposed Kreismann.

Hale said that while he was a member of the House of Delegates he opposed most of the policies of Mayor Kreismann, whose greatest mistake, he declared, was not turning the Democrats out of city jobs and putting Republicans in. He took no stock in the merit system of appointments, he said, and believed that party committees should make recommendations to officeholders, and that officeholders should then exercise their judgment in making appointments.

In discussing the rights of the people to make nominations by primary, Hale said primaries did not amount to much after the ward clubs got together and made up their minds. He said he believed in the ward club idea, and instated that all voters ought to belong to the ward clubs of their parties. He finally expressed the opinion that a charter containing provisions for civil service reform, or the merit system, and abolishing the House of Delegates, would be opposed by politicians, and probably rejected at the polls. Charles E. Bradley, a real estate dealer, requested the Board to investigate the legal question of whether the city could engage in fire insurance. The present fire insurance situation, he said, demanded radical treatment. The fire insurance companies, he found from real estate experience, had been in a combine on rates, and when the State attempted to put an end to it, they withdrew from the State, leaving it without protection. He said Berlin insured all property within its limits, and made money. He was not prepared to answer what would happen to the city if it had a conflagration, such as the Baltimore fire or the fire following the San Francisco earthquake. E. S. Morris, a North St. Louis blacksmith, also spoke.

PRINCE AND DUCHESS OF ENGLAND WHO ARE ENGAGED TO WED

Princess ALEXANDRA of DENMARK

Prince ARTHUR of CONNAUGHT

Twenty Snakes Have an Oeding.
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 18.—Mothers in the midway district called children into their homes and looked the doors following the announcement that 20 snakes, owned by a carnival company, had escaped from a cage. The keeper later rounded up his charges.

ENGLISH PRINCE ENGAGED TO THE DUCHESS OF FIFE

Arthur of Connaught Will Marry Granddaughter of King Edward VII.

LONDON, July 18.—The betrothal is announced of Prince Arthur of Connaught and Princess Alexandra Victoria, the Duchess of Fife.

Prince Arthur Frederick Patrick Albert is the son of the Duke of Connaught and Strathearn, Governor-General of Canada. He reached his thirtieth year last January. Educated at Eton and Sandhurst, Prince Arthur entered the Seventh Hussars and soon became known as a keen soldier and was promoted to the captaincy in the Royal Scots Guards. He has served as personal aid to King George VII and to King George V, being sent on so many missions that he earned the nickname of the "Royal Messenger Boy."

He was sent to Japan to represent King George at the funeral of the late Emperor of Japan.

Like his sister, Patricia, he is very good looking and takes pride in being thoroughly British. Rumor has been busy selecting brides for the young Prince, who has persistently declared he was "not a marrying man." It was supposed at one time that he had set his affections on Lady Marjorie Manners, eldest daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Rutland.

Last year he was reported to be engaged to Princess Irene Alexandrovna, the only daughter of the Czar's eldest sister, the Grand Duchess Xenia. It is likely that on his marriage the title of Duke of Kent will be revived for his benefit, this title having been in abeyance since the death of Queen Victoria's father.

Princess Alexandra, who is Duchess of Fife in her own right, is the elder daughter of the late Duke of Fife and Princess Louise Victoria, Princess Royal, the daughter of King Edward VII. She was born May 17, 1891, and is eight years younger than Prince Arthur. Her extreme diffidence earned her the nickname of "Her Royal Shyness." She is a tall, somewhat ungainly girl, very like her father.

She was with her father on the P. and O. liner Delhi when the vessel stranded on the coast of Morocco in December, 1911. With great difficulty the royal party, consisting of the Duke and Duchess and the Princesses Alexandra and Maud, was rescued in lifeboats and brought ashore near Cape Spartel. The hardships he endured resulted in the Duke's death a few weeks later.

Midsummer brings auto deals a-plenty for those who watch Post-Dispatch want ads.

PREACHER GETS A DIVORCE SO WIFE MAY BE DAUGHTER

Adopted Girl, Who Became Her "Father's" Wife at 16, Cannot Love Him as Wife.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WOODWARD, Ok., July 18.—A divorce on unusual grounds has been granted here to Judge B. F. Willett, who is an ordained Baptist minister, and who has served several terms as prosecuting attorney for this county.

Judge Willett gives up his wife that she may become again, in effect, his adopted daughter. Years ago he adopted a little girl, who took the name of Clara Willett. He put her in school at Enid, determined to give her the best education obtainable. She was a bright student and was very grateful to her benefactor.

Six years ago, when Clara reached the age of 16, Judge Willett made his adopted daughter his bride. The marriage took place at Enid, where the girl still was attending school.

In his petition for divorce the lawyer and former preacher set forth that Mrs. Willett had told him she never could love him as a wife, but that she could be devoted to him as a daughter. He desired to restore this legal relationship and release the young woman from the one into which she had entered as a girl of 16. The court acted accordingly.

SCORES HURT IN PANIC AT MOVING PICTURE EXHIBIT

Flashlight to Take Photograph of Crowd Causes Stampede From Building.

By Associated Press. NEWARK, N. J., July 18.—Nearly 100 persons, many of them children, were injured, but only two persons seriously enough to be taken to hospitals, in a panic at a moving picture exhibition here last night. The stampede followed the setting off of a flashlight to take a photograph of the crowd. The crowd became jammed in the exits of the building and many persons were trampled.

The exhibition was being given by the State Board of Health in conjunction with the Newark Anti-Tuberculosis Association and hundreds of persons of foreign birth were among the 1500 or more present. Their failure to understand a notice flashed upon the screen that the picture would be taken is believed to account for the panic which succeeded the setting off of the flashlight.

Summer's Hottest Day and Night Brings Death to Tenement Babies

City's Crowded Districts Become an Inferno of Suffering and Mortal Peril to Little Ones of the Poor—Pure Milk Commission's 17 Feeding Stations Thronged With Mothers and Their Imperiled Babies—Surely, Now, All Must Help to Maintain This Splendid Life-Saving Service.

CONTRIBUTIONS. Previously acknowledged $1291.14. Lemonade stand at 4571 Chouteau avenue 1.25. Mrs. E. B. McElroy 15.00. Children's entertainment at 1433 Clara avenue 17.10. No Name 2.00. Lottie Forbese, 4621 Morgan street 5.75.

Can you imagine, short of the inferno, any suffering greater than that of the poor in the overcrowded tenement districts of St. Louis yesterday and last night, the hottest day and night of the hottest summer St. Louis has known in many years?

And can you imagine anything more deadly in its effect upon the little babies of the poor—weak, wasted, their baby strength sapped to its lowest ebb by the cruel vitality-drain of such a day and night?

One thing is certain today. The 17 pure milk stations maintained by the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission will be crowded to their capacity by the wistful mothers of these little babies, seeking the daily feedings of pure milk which alone can keep their babies alive through such a hideous crisis of mortal peril as is now created by the stifling heat-wave.

Won't you help the Pure Milk Commission to meet the demand—the life-and-death demand—thus placed upon its service?

You must help. The commission must have the money with which to provide the pure milk so vitally necessary to save the tenement babies.

It will be inhuman to let the babies die for sheer lack of help.

The way to help is to send in your contribution to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund without delay. Do this at once.

You are condemning some poor little baby to death if you don't.

This is the plain truth.

Keep your soul clean of such a pitiless sin.

Have compassion upon the little ones of the poor.

Save the babies!

Little Martha Buck, of 3222 Bell avenue, and Adelaide Winter, of 1035 North Leonard, have been selected as lemonade stand at Easton and Leonard avenues for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, and earned $2.50 with which to help save the tenement babies.

They kept up the good work for three days, charging 2 cents per glass for their lemonade, and they are quite properly proud of their success. They now are members of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League and possessors of league membership cards.

Jean McLeod, whose residence address the Post-Dispatch would like to have in order to send her the league membership card to which she is entitled, sends $5 to the Pure Milk Fund "for the little children."

A number of kindly children conducted a lemonade stand at 4571 Chouteau avenue for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund and earned $1.25 with which to help save the tenement babies.

Those taking part in the good enterprise were Edward F. Smith and Valerie.

Another group of helpful children gave an entertainment at the residence of Mrs. C. Hank, 1433 Clara avenue, and earned $17.10 to help save the little tenement babies.

Those who took part in the program, the full details of which will be given later, were Bettie Zeld, Jeannette and Nathan Friedlob, of 1433 Clara; Emily Wendell, 1240 Shawmut; Julia Stierlin, 1419 Clara; Lora Mumford, 209A Semple; Helen Wood, 1434 Clara; Sadie Marquis, 1440A Burg; Joseph Hackler, 1457 Clara; Clarence Hauk, 1433A Clara; Emily Gerstly, 5507A Wells; and Harold Ansell, 1444A Clara.

Miss Sadie Friedlob rehearsed the children and acted as stage manager. Mrs. E. B. McElroy sends her check for $5 to the Pure Milk Fund to help save the babies.

Lottie Forbese of 4621 Morgan street, conducted a lemonade stand and earned $5.75 for the little ones of the poor.

"No Name," writing from the reception room of the Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney department store, sends $2 to the Pure Milk Fund.

Next Tuesday evening, at the residence of S. Zamelman, 5207 Garfield avenue, six helpful children will give a show for the benefit of the Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. Those taking part in the entertainment are Frederick and Roscoe Zamelman of 5207 Garfield; Margaret Robinson, 5208 Garfield; Esther and George Courson, 5209 Garfield; and Sarah Kopitsky, 5215 Garfield. They are working hard to score a big success.

All over town, indeed, the children are working hard.

It won't be their fault if the little ones of the poor are surrendered, helpless, to grim old Death, now stalking through the tenements and gloating over the heat-wave's desertlike ferocity.

They are fighting for the tenement tots as best they can.

And always these splendid children sound the league slogan: "Save the babies!"

Chicago Also to Check Noise of Parrots and Canaries.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The crowing rooster, indicted on many counts before the Council Anti-Noise Committee, is to be suppressed by law.

An order making it punishable by fine to keep any fowl, which by crowing, talking or singing, disturbs the peace of the neighborhood, was recommended yesterday for passage. Parrots and canaries also come under the scope of the proposed ordinance.

20,000 CHILDREN ARE MILLIONAIRE'S GUESTS AT PICNIC

Governor and Soldiers Go to Atchison, Where B. P. Waggener Provides Fun.

By Associated Press. ATCHISON, Kan., July 18.—Twenty thousand Kansas children are guests today of Baile P. Waggener, millionaire railroad man, at his annual children's picnic. All the expenses, even including railroad fare to Atchison, are borne by Waggener. Entertainment provided includes a free distribution of toys and flowers, automobile parades, land and water athletic contests, baseball games, exhibition drill by the United States troops from Fort Leavenworth and day and night fireworks.

Gov. Hodges and staff and three companies of the Kansas National Guard are here for the outing.

Will Undergo Operation. This year the picnic has a particular interest for the friends of Waggener, because he will leave tomorrow for Rochester, Minn., where the Doctors Mayo will perform an operation on him, the third in two years. Waggener is 67 years old and it is feared that this trial may be serious, but he is as optimistic as ever.

Two weeks ago the surgeons advised an immediate operation, but Waggener would not postpone or fail to attend the picnic. He agreed to go to Rochester on the day following it.

Three railroads ran special trains for the children. The central branch of the Missouri Pacific in 13 decorated coaches brought in more than 4000 young people.

Children's Flower Parade. Waggener has difficulty in preparing novel forms of entertainment for his yearly birthday party, but today it was predicted his little friends would have such a time as they had never had before.

The children's flower parade began at 11 a. m. There were 60 features. These were five doll buggies pushed by 500 doll-like misses. The largest touring cars in Atchison were covered with flowers and jammed with kiddies.

The automobile parade followed the children's section. Waggener had 20 children in the first car, and one could hardly see the white hair of the children's "patron saint" among so many curly heads.

Later all the guests were taken to Forest Park, where the festivities were continued by the opening of 100 hog-heads of free lemonade.

To each child was given a horn, a flag and a pennant at the school house, and the street car rides all over the city were complimentary.

At the park vaudeville acts, water sports, daylight fireworks and races and contests of all kinds kept the children from remembering how tired they were.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

This men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks and weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction.

And best of all the new flesh stays put. Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fat, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe, fat-producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive.

PUGILISTIC BULLY IS SHOT BY A LAME YOUTH IN POOL HALL

Manager of Place Fires Four Times When Fighter Rushes at Him.

VICTIM WARNED AWAY

Tantalizing Tactics Caused Him to Be Told Never to Return, but He Ignored It.

Jerry Lambert, 26 years old, a semi-professional pugilist, was shot twice Thursday night by Thurman Stout, 35, a cripple, in Ryan's pool hall at 311 Market street, of which Stout is manager.

When Lambert fell to the floor, after four shots had been fired, Stout warned pool players not to interfere and kept Lambert covered with the weapon until the police arrived, threatening to kill him if he attempted to get up.

Lambert is at the city hospital in a serious condition from bullet wounds in the chest and right shoulder. Stout is held pending the result of Lambert's injuries.

Shooting Due to Tantalizing.
The shooting resulted from a quarrel because of Lambert's tantalizing habit of striking customers of the place on the arm with his knuckles in what is termed "flogging the muscles," according to Stout. Lambert had been a frequent visitor to the place, and a few days ago Stout told him the pool players objected to his playful knocks and ordered him to stop.

Lambert resented his order, Stout said, and continued what he considered "bullying" tactics to show his enmity toward him. Stout sent for a sandwich Wednesday, and when the boy returned Lambert took it from the boy and ate half of it, telling Stout the remainder was enough "for a man of his kind," according to Stout.

Warned Not to Come Back.
In the quarrel which followed, Harry Ryan, proprietor of the place, ordered Lambert from the pool hall and told him not to return, Stout told the police. He returned at 8:30 Thursday night, Stout said, and pushed a customer he knew only as "Johnny" off a stool on which he was sitting.

Stout says he told Lambert to "cut out his bullying program," and that Lambert, with an oath, attacked him, saying he was going to "finish him."

Stout stepped back to a counter and took a revolver from a drawer, and warned Lambert not to advance toward him. When Lambert continued to rush at him he fired four shots, he said, and Lambert fell.

Warns Customers Away.
When customers of the place rushed up to wrest the weapon from Stout, Stout pointed the revolver at them and told them not to interfere or they might get hurt.

When detectives attracted by the shots entered the room Lambert still lay on the floor. Stout submitted to arrest quietly.

Stout has been manager of the pool room a year. His right foot was crushed when he was a boy, and he has been lame since.

410 POUNDS FATAL TO MAN

Bert L. Fisher Dies at Hospital
—Special Coffin Made.

Bert L. Fisher, 39 years old, who weighed 410 pounds, died Thursday at the city hospital of fatty degeneration of the heart. He is said to have been the largest patient ever at the institution.

A casket of large size was made, and the body was taken to Union Station Friday in an express wagon, the coffin being too large for an ordinary hearse. The body was taken to Terre Haute, Ind., his former home, for burial.

He is survived by his wife and three children, with whom he lived at 444 Natural Bridge road. He was a salesman. He was taken to the hospital July 12 for treatment.

FAMILY FEUD LED HIS FATHER TO GIVE HIM ALL, SAYS SON

John Kincer, Who Got $50,000
In Realty, Declares Brother's "Spite" Fence Caused Discrimination.

Relatives of Martin Kincer, who died in 1908, at the age of 38 years, are suing to set aside his will, which was recently filed by his son, John Kincer.

The will was filed after the Supreme Court had set aside a conveyance of realty, valued at $50,000, made by the father to John. The conveyance was attacked in a suit brought by Miss Pearl Kincer, a daughter, who alleged that she and other members of the Kincer family had been deprived of their share in the father's property. She was joined in the suit by the other children and their heirs. The Supreme Court decided in favor of Miss Kincer, reversing the decision of Circuit Judge Sale in favor of John Kincer.

Will Held Up Five Years.
The will which was not probated until five years after Kincer's death, made John Kincer sole beneficiary to the same property the testator previously had deeded to him. It is now necessary for the plaintiff to get a decision annulling the will on the ground that the elder Kincer was unduly influenced and was not of sound and disposing mind before they can benefit by the Supreme Court's ruling in the other case.

Attorneys Vincent McShane and John M. Goodwin, who represented the plaintiffs in the first suit, are included among the plaintiffs in the will contest, they holding a one-third interest in the estate by reason of their taking the litigation on a contingent basis.

Martin Kincer was prominent in North St. Louis and was one of the pioneer residents of that section. He lived for years at 2310 North Broadway, his son, John, living with him. Another son, Martin Kincer Jr., lived next door.

According to John Kincer, the father conveyed the realty to him on account of love and affection. The son claimed that the father's failure to bequeath property to others of the family was partly due to a feud which started 30 years ago, when Martin Kincer Jr. put up a "spite" fence between his and his father's yards. A pennant with the words, "Rats for you," was put up on the fence.

John Kincer said his brother's children were responsible for the pennant, and that their grandfather felt insulted by such disrespect. Other members of the family became embroiled in the feud, John said, but, according to his testimony at the trial of the first case, he always remained on the side of his father.

Attorney Goodwin told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that the trouble caused by the "spite" fence and the pennant was patched up years ago and that the elder Kincer apparently had been on good terms with all the members of the family.

12 ELECTRIC LIGHTS USED IN SWEATING MERCURY VICTIM

Fischer Wants to Go Home, but Doctors Say He Is Not Yet
Out of Danger.

Though he was in a serious condition Friday from an accidental dose of bichloride of mercury, Edwin B. Fischer of 6141A Suburban avenue, told his physicians at the city hospital that he would insist on going home before night.

The physicians, who would not have the power to restrain him if he persisted in wishing to go, and if relatives provided means for his removal, argued with him to abandon the idea. They told him plainly he was not out of danger, and that his peril would be aggravated by any change of surroundings and treatment.

They believe now, although they did not tell him so, that his chance for recovery is not yet an even chance. The fact that he suffers little pain, while it causes him to be optimistic, does not deceive the medical men, who fear the insidious working of this poison.

The condition of the kidneys was an unfavorable symptom, and it was partly with the hope of benefiting the patient in this respect that a remarkable sweating treatment, began Thursday night, was resorted to.

Fischer's bed was covered with sheets to exclude air, and 12 incandescent lamps of 15 candlepower were placed on a bar of wood which rested just over his body. This, with the prevailing temperature, sufficed to give the patient a violent sweating.

Fischer, who is a photographer, swallowed the bichloride early Wednesday, in a dimly lighted bathroom, at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Eliza Wrapp, 6038 Bartmer avenue. He mistook the bichloride, which he had purchased for photographic use, for epsom salts.

WEDS GIRL AFTER JACOB-LIKE WAIT OF SEVEN YEARS

East Alton Man Has Worked to Save Money to Pay for Operation on Lame Bride.

After waiting seven years for a romance that has been growing there the village of East Alton is rejoicing because it has flowered into a happy marriage. The wedding, which was that of Nordahl Colburn and Miss Lottie Lawrence, has had the whole town's approval.

As Jacob, in the Bible story, waited and worked seven years for Rachel, Colburn waited and worked seven years for Miss Lawrence. The difference is that at the end of his seven years, Jacob was tricked by his father-in-law, while Colburn, at the end of his seven got his bride and a blessing.

Saves for an Operation.
Colburn's seven years were put in saving up enough money to pay for a surgical operation for the girl. The operation is to cure an old injury which has made Miss Lawrence lame since she was a child. It will be an expensive one, because high priced specialists must be employed.

Colburn is the son of J. A. Colburn, superintendent of the Equitable Powder Works of East Alton. Although his parents are considered well to do, the young man has declined to ask their financial assistance, preferring to make his own way.

JEWELRY WINDOW ROBBED OF $2500; HUNDREDS NEAR

East Side Thief Smashes Glass and Grabs Gems, Then Slips Away in the Crowd.

While Harry B. Carson, president of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners in East St. Louis, watched helplessly from the platform of a street car, where he was imprisoned in a jam of passengers, a well-dressed man smashed the window of a jewelry store at 124 Collingsville avenue at 4 p. m. Thursday, scooped up a handful of precious stones and escaped.

The thief, the noise of whose operations was drowned by that of workmen repairing the car tracks, crossed Collingsville avenue, passing eight or ten persons, and entered an alley running to Main street, a block away.

Carson was in too close quarters to draw his revolver, and he ran through the Arcade Building in the hope of finding the robber at the Main street entrance of the alley. But the fugitive had vanished and Carson went to the police station for assistance.

With a patrolman he searched the alley and the adjacent yards and houses, but without avail.

The store was that of H. E. Cook, and most of the loot, valued at $2500, consisted of presents which he had given to Mrs. Cook on the occasion of their marriage a year ago. These were two cluster diamond rings, containing six and seven stones each, and a pair of pearl and diamond earrings. In addition, the thief got three solitaire diamond rings belonging to the store.

Mrs. Cook usually kept her jewelry locked in the safe, but Thursday morning, she said, when her husband opened the safe an impulse seized her which caused her to add her valuables to the store's display in the window. She had never done this before.

Cook and his wife were in the store, sitting at a desk in the rear, and did not hear the sound of the breaking window, which the robber struck with an iron bolt with a nut at the end. They knew nothing of the robbery until a policeman told them.

Colburn fell in love with her soon after he came to East Alton from his New England home, seven years ago, when he was about 19 years old and she a year or two younger. They became engaged, but Colburn declared he would not marry her until he was able to put her under the care of a competent surgeon.

He had artistic tastes, which, coupled with a gift at drawing, had made him ambitious to become an illustrator or cartoonist. His lack of technical experience, however, made it impossible for him to get employment that would bring him a satisfactory salary. So he studied bookkeeping and stenography and got a job as railroad clerk.

For the last year he has been employed at a fair salary at Holsington, Kan. Recently he was promoted to a more lucrative office at Alexandria, La. This made his marriage immediately possible.

Thursday he stepped off in East Alton on his way to Alexandria. Wednesday morning he and Miss Lawrence were married in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. His bride came with him to St. Louis Wednesday evening. He took a train that night for Alexandria and she returned to East Alton.

Mrs. Colburn expects to spend the next three weeks breaking in a new girl to her job. In the meantime her husband will prepare their home at Alexandria and will arrange for the operation.

For instance, there's the illustrated feature on "Outdoor Sleeping at Home in St. Louis," with pictures of fresh-air slumber porches at homes both humble and palatial. If you haven't a sleeping porch of your own you may get a valuable suggestion from this article in the Sunday Magazine.

There is another story with the breath of the great outdoors in it—"Camp Fire Girls of St. Louis." They have a Summer cottage on a bluff in the big woods. There are pictures of a dozen or more of the Camp Fire Girls, in their outdoor costumes.

In the Picture Section a page is devoted to "Society Girls as Nymphs at Play." They belong to the outdoor class at a Summer school of rhythmic expression. Sounds poetic? And it is. The costumes are classic, the poses pretty. Also the girls are pretty.

The three foregoing features will cure you of Midsummer madness without further prescription.

Delving Into the Long Ago

Prehistoric is the throne of Montezuma, just found in Arizona by a Smithsonian expert. Clark McAdams, who has been on the spot, tells about it. From this great turquoise chair the ancient emperors of the Aztecs wielded the scepter before the exodus to Mexico.

Gettysburg's semi-centennial is shown in two pages of photographs. You will see the Blue and Gray veterans in camp; Gen. Sickles surrounded by men he led and others he opposed until one of his legs was shot off the second day of the battle; a handful of Pickett's men crossing the wheat field through which they charged 50 years ago, and many other incidents of the grand reunion.

Gettysburg suggests Waterloo, which was fought nearly half a century earlier. There is, very appropriately, a page in the Sunday Magazine, describing the movement to celebrate Waterloo's centennial, with a comparison as to world-records between Gettysburg and the French defeat. The personality of Napoleon and the causes of his final reverse are discussed.

Autobiography which is history is contained in Col. Roosevelt's current chapter. Every Missourian will be glad to see former Senator Cockrell's picture, with Roosevelt's tribute that the grand old Missourian was one "who abhorred the business of the spoilsman." Roosevelt discusses his work for civil service reform and tells who opposed the movement.

Handsomeness, Handsome Husbands

When the two go together, the bride is entitled to look extra pretty. "St. Louis Houses as Wedding Presents" is a feature that will appeal to all. Pictures of some of the beautiful homes given by fond fathers when a son or a daughter takes a mate are shown, with some interesting history associated with them.

There is another story of interest to lovers. It tells how a college stroke carman lost the race for his crew, but won a bride in spite of that defeat—partly, in fact, because of it.

Other Interesting Features

New Rochelle is the town that's "45 Minutes From Broadway." It has been there 235 years. A big half-tone shows its picturesque anniversary celebration.

How labor unions helped to celebrate the Kaiser's 25th anniversary on the throne is told in pictures. Other photographs show the arrival of the new French President in England on his visit to King George.

An installment of Anna Katherine Green's thrilling story, "Behind Closed Doors," is the fiction offering. The Funny Side has all the old favorites of Post-Dispatch readers.

BREAKING THE LIMIT

THE new engineer on a farmers' railroad, and his ride for life and lives.

By JARED L. FULLER.

"PUG" DONALDSON, who had been roundhouse foreman so long that he thought he owned the entire system, gave out his opinion of Lannigan at the end of the latter's first week on the M. & S. P.

And this was it:

"That Grandfather Longlegs never'll get to hold down a passenger lever on this road, whatever he's done back East. It ain't in him."

Then the old man chalked up the limit on the side of his little smoke-discolored office, spat with emphasis, and—well, that closed the subject as far as "Pug" was concerned.

I reckon, if Lannigan hadn't begun by blowing about his Eastern record, he'd made more of a hit with us. But he was a stranger in a strange land, the only engine driver on the system who hadn't held down a throttle west of the river, and he felt that it devolved on him to do some bragging.

He was a tall, awkwardly built man, with a shock of sandy hair and a smooth, humorous face. His legs and arms were remarkably long and thin, and old Donaldson's sobriquet stuck to him—"Daddy Longlegs" seemed to fit.

Lannigan got a freight, and the worst bunch of scrap iron on the road, which, in moments of enthusiasm, "Pug" called an engine. If there was any man handicapped in the race to break the limit, it was the new man from the land of tenderfoots.

The system of advancement followed by the M. & S. P. did not include length of service, or "pull." Just one thing counted—the ability of a driver to get speed out of his machine over the worst track that God ever allowed man to say.

The country was new when the M. & S. P. was surveyed and laid down. It had been a race track for the M. & S. P. and another corporation to see which should reach the terminating town, where connection could be made with the Pacific road first.

We won, but at a cost which crippled the road financially for years, and the renewing of the first road was a slow and laborious job.

We ran one fast passenger—the Limited. The through mail cars were attached to that train, too.

It was a continual fight all through the year to keep the road, and the renewing of the first road was a slow and laborious job.

If any man on any other train showed an ability to get speed out of his engine, he was watched, and, if he "broke the limit," he stood a good chance of displacing the driver then running the mail train.

The roundhouse foreman had a habit of chalking up the highest running at the end of the week where all hands could see it, and sometimes the rivalry ran high.

But for Lannigan, the new man, there wasn't the ghost of a show. His locomotive was an old affair which had already done service on the mail train and been condemned as untrustworthy.

His train seldom had the right of way, and he and his fireman, Jimmy Slosson, stood about as much show of ever pulling out the Limited as they did of running for President and Vice-President in the Populist ticket.

The M. & S. P. in those days was a "farmers' railroad." Most of the way stations were merely huts and water tanks in forest clearings, tapping a certain section of farming country stretching westward of the line.

Such villages or towns as there were were roughly built, and in many of them there wasn't a brick—even the chimneys of the slab houses being of clay and poles.

A settlement grew quickly. Sometimes it disappeared quite as rapidly as it sprang up. A spark from a passing engine might cause this last—at the proper season.

As the lumber was removed and farms laid out, however, more stable houses were put up. Still, there was many a little settlement like Yardley on the line when Lannigan and Jimmy made their record run.

Lannigan had been with us since the winter before. He was a good driver, but not brilliant. Anybody but a prejudiced old fool like Donaldson would have recognized his good points; but you never could stir the roundhouse foreman when he'd once got up on his mind.

Lannigan had learned the road—and this engine. If he followed another train he was on its heels all the time, and got himself well cursed for it.

Some of us began to see that there really was more to the Eastern man than we had believed.

That fall was dry—the sun and wind all day, and every day, drying the sap out of the trees and brush and burning the leaves brown before the frost could make them pretty.

By and by the inevitable happened; fires began to light up the heavens nightly, and by day streaks of blue smoke hid the tops of the higher hills.

Reports reached us from all directions of families burned out and settlements threatened. But for a week the configurations kept away from the line of the road.

Then suddenly, one Sunday morning a flood of fire swooped down the mountain side and crossed the tracks some miles south of Yardley.

MODES SEEN ON FRENCH RACE TRACKS

THREE novelties in gowns worn by mannequins for dressmakers at Chantilly on the French Derby day are shown in these pictures. The lace overskirts appeared in dozens of models, each a novel variation. The Turkish girdle was also an exceedingly popular note and the unpopularity of the petticoat was very apparent wherever a mannequin was seen against the light.

TEACHING MA TO SWIM

A DOMESTIC dialogue before and during the wetting of her bathing suit.

By ALMA WOODWARD.

Scene: A summer garden bathing pool. (A woman emerges from the bathroom into the corridor)—How do you think this suit looks now, Henry?

Pa (busy with the key)—Same as it looked at home.

(A woman passes. Ma grabs Pa's arm and whispers frantically.)

Ma (hoarsely)—Do I look like that creature, Henry?

Pa (with an effort)—Of course you don't look like her. You look fine. Come on.

(They walk out. Ma nervously keeps pulling her stockings up and the skirt of her bathing suit down.)

Pa (quickly)—What're you doing that for? If you want to get into the water without attracting attention just walk out quickly and boldly—this way. People'll think you're losing your clothes.

Ma (in quick retort)—Why should I want to get into the water without attracting attention? I'm not unpleasant to the eye, am I? I guess there's nothing about me that would make you think I'm losing my shape.

Pa (eager for calm and quiet)—No, you gotta fine shape. Come on.

Ma (nervously)—I wonder whether the water's cold today?

Pa (firmly)—If you stand on the edge wondering whether it's cold you're sure to freeze to death when you go in. The water's always warmer than the air.

Ma (coaxingly)—Now, listen, Henry. Before you go in I want you to promise me you won't do anything to frighten me. You must remember I'm naturally very timid, and if you frighten me the first time I'll never learn to swim.

Pa (impatiently)—Aw, who's going to frighten you? Come on. Don't be such a lemon!

Ma (in reproach)—Henry! Aren't you ashamed? Well, I'm going to wade out now. Should I get wet all over right away?

Pa—Sure! Flop right down where you're standing. No, 'tain't deep enough to cover you there. Come on out where I am.

Ma (making the attempt)—You hold out your hand so that I'll have something to hang to, Henry. The water's awful strong against your feet, isn't it?

Pa—The current, your mean. Well, now, here goes!

(Pa places both hands on Ma's shoulders, intending to feel her wet all over. Ma struggles wildly and finally succeeds in throwing off the grasp.)

Ma (panting, indignantly)—How dare you! After all I've said, too. You were going to duck me, Henry! Yes, you were! Don't you dare deny it!

Pa (in disgust)—Aw, I was only going to get your shoulders wet— You'll catch cold if you keep sticking out of the water that way.

Ma (panting)—All right. Now I'm ready. Now when you hold me under the chin, Henry, be sure you don't let me slip. Because if I ever went down, just once, even, I'll never go in again, you know.

Pa (patiently)—Yeh, I know. I won't let you slip. Come on. (Ma tries.)

Pa (with irritation)—Say, you ain't got your feet off the bottom. How do you think you're going to learn to swim standing up? If you think I'm going to stand here all afternoon and be a blooming bit of bobbing cork for your support you're mistaken. I'm going to take a swim.

Ma (shrilly)—You do dare go out there and leave me here alone, Henry?

A HUNT FOR A HUSBAND

A N heiress' butterfly quest for the right Man told for the Post-Dispatch serially.

By W. V. POLLOCK.

NO. 9—THE MAN WITH TWO SWEETHEARTS.

EVERY Jack has his Jill. But through some mismanagement of Dan Cupid every Jack does not always happen to meet his Jill. And sometimes when Jack and Jill do meet they find it is too late, for he or she has already been pledged to another mate.

But one certainly persists. If fate permits them to meet they recognize each other from everybody else in the world.

That is just how I felt about it when papa, who was waiting for mamma and me at the Grand Canyon, introduced my "Jack" to me.

Phillip G— and I looked at each other, and it seemed as though we had been waiting for each other always.

I thought Phillip G— was the one man meant for me.

We had not done much talking, but whenever a moment presented itself we put into practice those sentimental lines:

Drink to me only with thine eyes, And I will pledge with mine. His were the softest, kindest brown eyes I had ever looked into.

After two or three days papa began to pine for some golf. So we all went on to Los Angeles and then to Pasadena, to the bungalow which papa had rented for a month.

It was a fascinating one-story structure, hanging on a mountainside and wandering on indefinitely like the "cubist" conception of a skyscraper.

After a day of motoring through the orange groves with the trees laden with golden fruit and the air heavy with the scent of the blossoms, or down to the beaches, or on horseback trips into the mountains, or excursions to the missions and neighboring Indian settlements, and luncheon at picturesque Spanish haciendas tucked away in the foothills and discovered only to fortunate wayfarers, we loved to sit in the rose garden, under the quiet stars.

One night when the whole world was at peace Phillip was missing from our contented circle.

I found him on the veranda, looking very crestfallen.

We had never spoken our love, but our perfect companionship meant so much more than avowals, such as we both had at once planned to make the next morning.

The foundation of existence seemed to give away when he told me that he had pledged himself in marriage to an Australian girl, and now that so many thousands of miles lay between them his ardor had cooled. He said: "What shall I do?"

I could tell by the look in his eyes that he hoped I would tell him not to marry the girl in Australia. But instead, I told him he would never be quite happy if he destroyed another's faith.

He was having a battle with himself. Even I could not help him decide what was the right thing for him to do.

The next morning at breakfast he announced that he was going to San Francisco to sail on the next boat for Australia.

Our time in Pasadena was about up; so we decided to go to San Francisco to give Phillip a rousing send-off.

The morning he left I pretended to have a headache and did not go to the boat.

I do not believe in those "never get over it" affairs, and I made up my mind to cure myself as quickly as I could.

LEARN ONE THING EVERY DAY

29.—Liquid Air.

THE zero that we find on our Centigrade and Fahrenheit thermometers is zero only for general purposes. Objects that are zero cold are not absolutely cold; there are greater depths.

The "real zero," where temperature really begins, is 273 degrees below the zero shown on the Centigrade thermometer. Scientifically, it is called the "absolute zero." It has never yet been reached. But, in experiments, men have come within two or three degrees of it.

Liquid air is simply air condensed into a liquid. Liquid air is very cold, so cold that objects placed in it freeze almost instantly and become brittle as glass.

It is used largely in laboratory work for making other things cold, for experimental purposes. Also, recently, there has been a device made that can be used by a rescuer going down into a mine trying to save victims of an explosion. In this device the rescuer carries liquid air, and, as it evaporates, atom by atom, it makes pure air for him to breathe. And since it takes such an enormous quantity of air to make such a very little bit of liquid air, you can see what a large supply he can carry for breathing purposes.

Just Possible.

"I DON'T understand why we seem to be growing tired of each other," said a husband of but a few months.

"I haven't an idea," said the wife.

"Well," replied the young man, "perhaps that is the reason."—Lippincott's.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by your druggist under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

FIST FIGHT MAY COST CARDS TWO NEEDED PLAYERS

Slugging Match on Polo Grounds May Result in Suspension Today.

NEW YORK, July 18.—As a result of a fight between Lee Magee and Ted Cather, which took place yesterday at the end of the third inning of the second game, the Cardinals may be minus two more needed men. Blows were struck before interference calmed the belligerents and of such action President Lynch can hardly fail to take notice. Suspensions will seriously handicap the team in its present weakened condition. The laying off of Magee would force Higgins back into the game, although his head is still troubling him. It was a funny scrap to start from a trivial cause. Magee took it deep to heart when Cather failed to play in for Doyle's hit. At the inning's end, as he came in range of the left fielder, when the latter walked in, he lost no time in asking what was the matter. His query was barked at the young left fielder. Cather had probably been asking the same question of himself ever since Doyle's hit had fallen safe, and Shafer had clattered across the rubber with the second run. Hence he was in no mood to have others put it to him. His answer was short and sharp, which induced some rough language from Magee. Cather forgot that an outbreak of violence would certainly mean a suspension and fine, and he wallowed the second baseman. Magee was surprised, but proved willing, and had it not been that the other players were so handy they might have settled the question of supremacy forthwith. But the disturbance was stopped almost as soon as it started.

Punishment Expected.
It lasted long enough to send a crowd hurrying over the partition into the playing field, but they were quickly chased back into the stands. While the game was suspended, President Lynch ordered the belligerents into the clubhouse.

President Lynch's judgment will probably be promulgated this morning. Penalties that Magee and Higgins are not disciplined either of the offenders, presumably because he thinks President Lynch will give them all that is coming to them.

Higgins is expected to be on the job this afternoon. He did not show up yesterday, because in the last inning of the game the day before, when the Phillies won out, Higgins got very much worked up, and the excitement precipitated a ferocious headache, which was still with him yesterday, and he concluded to take a day off.

Baseball Briefs
The defeats of the Mackmen by the White Sox and the Naps by the Yankees, coupled with the Nationals' victory over the Browns, aided the cause of the Grifters.

The Cubs broke the winning streak of Hub Puckett, who has won six games, and obtained an even break in the double bill with the Braves. Tyler defeated the Bruins in the opener, opposing Charley Smith and Lew Riddle.

The distance between the Cardinals and Reds remains the same, because the Rubens divided the bargain day bill with the Phils.

The hard-hitting Athletics were able to pile only six hits off Jim Scott. Bush and Mervyn hurried for the leaders. The score was 6-2, in favor of the Sox.

Manager Charley Carr of the Kansas City team punched a spectator after yesterday's game with the Louisville team. He had been banished in the fourth inning and returned to the field after the game to protest to Umpire Murray. A spectator followed the manager and attacked him, but received a blow for his trouble.

McBride is going East. George McBride, the National's sensational shortstop, a former Cardinal by the way, is having a great trip. In the 17 games played by the Grifters since the current trip, McBride has turned one error.

TERRIERS BLANKED BY HOOSIER PITCHER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 18.—The last game of the series between the St. Louis and Indianapolis Federal League teams will be played this afternoon. The series to date is a tie. Yesterday's game was won by the Hoosiers, because Pitcher Ashenfelter, a former American Association star, who worked for the Terriers, was wild, while Pitcher Cates of the lead-ers was unhit in the pinches. Ashenfelter threw nine bases on balls, and was coupled with six hits, gave the Hoosiers six runs, more than enough to win, inasmuch as Cates blanked the St. Louisans.

HOERR AND CANNON MAY MEET FOR COURT TITLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 18.—Roland Hoerr of St. Louis and Jack Cannon of Kansas City are picked as the finalists in the Missouri Valley tennis championship tournament here. The semi-final round has been reached and they are expected to win their respective matches today. Hoerr plays Dick Teahorn of Kansas City, while Cannon takes on Hubert Allen. Hoerr and Herbert Jones will play Cannon and Teahorn in the doubles today.

Prospects Good for Trots.

PITTSBURGH, July 18.—Managers of the Grand Circuit races held out the hope this morning that the program for this afternoon would be carried out at the Brunot Island track. Hard work on the course during the night had improved the condition, and it was planned to run off the following races: 2:10 trot, 2:10 pace, 2:07 trot, Kentucky stake, 3-year-old trotters, and professional drivers' stake, 2:15 trot.

ONE RUN DEFEATS SHOW BATTING IS BROWNS' FAILING

Six of 10 Losses at Home Were by Margin of Single Tally.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.

Six of the ten games the Browns have lost during their present at-home stand have been one-run defeats. This would indicate only a little bolstering is needed to make the Sportsman's Park club a winner. The "little" is lacking in the way of a hard-hitting left fielder and a shortstop who can connect often.

Probably no team in the American League is getting much better hurling than that offered by Earl Hamilton, George Baumgardner, Walter Levern, Roy Mitchell and Carl Weiland. Weiland was in the doubtful class until Thursday, when he came through with what should have been a shut-out game in nine innings.

The at-home record of the Browns is nine victories and ten defeats. Every club in the league, save the Athletics, has been met and there's still a chance to even up the series with the Nationals. The chance is a slim one, however, with Walter Johnson still to pitch.

More Hitting Is Needed.
The team is doing well on the defense, but not quite up to the mark on the attack. Jack Johnson started out like a whirlwind in the spring, but has slowed up in hitting. This John Lavan would be a wonder if he could hit 250 or thereabouts. Manager Stovall has been doing the right thing by this collegian by keeping him in the lineup every day, despite his weak batting. His fielding has been sensational, and Stovall wants to lend him every encouragement in the hope that he'll begin to hit.

With a hard-hitting left fielder on the job and Lavan capable of getting an occasional blow there's no telling how many of the six games lost by one-run margins would have come this way. The 2-10 record accomplished with the afore-said weaknesses isn't bad for a team that was generally picked to finish at the bottom of the heap.

Flanagan May Fill Hole.
The Browns wind up their stay at home soon and when the team hits the road, Charles Flanagan, the sailor boy, will be afforded a chance to show what he owns. He may be able to plug up one of the weak spots. Flanagan's forte in the minors was hitting. He has played every position on the team and Stovall will likely give him an opportunity as an infielder and outfielder, too.

AMERICAN HORSE WINS $50,000 STAKE ABROAD

SANDOWN PARK, England, July 18.—August Belmont's Tracery won today the Bolshoi Stakes of $50,000 for 3 and 4 year old colts, over a course of a mile and a quarter. Louvois was second and Bachelor's Wedding third. Seven ran. Tracery was the favorite and was ridden by Danny Maher. The betting was 2 to 1 on Tracery, 6 to 1 against Louvois and 100 to 1 against Bachelor's Wedding.

Tracery was the horse thrown by the man Harold Hewitt, while running for the Ascot Gold Cup on June 19.

Williams Hits Seven Fouls.
Before getting his single off Pitcher Engel in the second inning Thursday, Gus Williams fouled off seven balls besides taking two wild ones. In fact, Engel labored hard to gain his victory as an unusual number of foul balls were poked during the game.

JOHNSON'S LAMENT.
O. H. McALEER, it's very queer To think that you would tie a can To Jackie Stahl And never call To take the matter up with Ban.

To think that you Would go and do Such underhanded tricks as that, I'm sorely grieved; So greatly peeved I'm losing many pounds of fat.

Five persons in Chile have already sent in their order for tickets to the world's series game, indicating that it will be a cold day when Chile gets left.

HEAT WAVES.
McAleer fires Stahl; Johnson peevish, may fire McAleer. Evans tears shirt off of spectator; Johnson peevish some more, threatens to make Evans buy spectator new shirt (they're selling 'em cheap now, Billy). "O. R." Comiskey, thinking it was a moon grove instead of an orange ranch that F. Chance was running in California, handed the Peerless Leader Horton and Zeider. P. L. greatly peeved, Lee Magee criticizes Ted Cather's style or playing ball. Magee reciprocates; both very much peeved and put out. Next!

That muf by Bert Shotton was a hot one. St. Louis is thirteenth in the Hot-Weather League.

Shotton's Error Loses Game for Pitcher Weiland

Carl Weiland deserved a 0-0 draw in nine innings with Joe Engel of the Nationals in Thursday's matinee at Sportsman's Park. But a wretched muff of a fly ball by Bert Shotton in the sixth inning let George McBride score from second with the lone marker of the contest.

But for Shotton's error, the show was a dandy, Weiland and Engel pitching in excellent fashion. The remarkable part of Weiland's portion of the heaving was that he didn't pass a batter in the innings. For a left-hander this is the unusual thing. Engel allowed only one bit of free transportation.

Both were stinky with the hits, Engel having the better of the argument in this respect, as he held the Browns to three, against six of Weiland. Excellent support behind Engel cut down what looked like base hits when they left the bats. This was especially true of Agnew's roller to McBride in the sixth, Shotton's hopper to Foster in the third and Bert's smash to Gandil in the ninth.

The betting was 2 to 1 on Tracery, 6 to 1 against Louvois and 100 to 1 against Bachelor's Wedding.

Tracery was the horse thrown by the man Harold Hewitt, while running for the Ascot Gold Cup on June 19.

Williams Hits Seven Fouls.
Before getting his single off Pitcher Engel in the second inning Thursday, Gus Williams fouled off seven balls besides taking two wild ones. In fact, Engel labored hard to gain his victory as an unusual number of foul balls were poked during the game.

MOUND CITY MEN TIE FOR FIRST AT PEORIA REGATTA

Grand Rapids, and St. Louis Clubs Score 16 Points in Rowing Events.

Count of Medals Gives St. Louis Oarsmen the Regatta Point Trophy

PEORIA, Ill., July 18.—It was stated just before the meeting of the Central States Association today that the point trophy goes to the Mound City Rowing Club because it had the greater number of medals.

Grand Rapids' victories were in the smaller shells; and while it captured seven races, it had only 13 medal men. The Mound City had 15.

PEORIA, Ill., July 18.—The Mound City Rowing Club of St. Louis and the Grand Rapids Boat and Canoe Club of Grand Rapids today stand tied in number of points won in events of the Central States Amateur Rowing Association regatta. Each captured 16 points.

It was the great work of the Mound City crews in the senior events yesterday that permitted them to overhaul the Michigan boys; and tragic hard luck that caused the Grand Rapids oarsmen to lose undisputed possession of the point trophy.

Officials of the association today were discussing a means whereby the plaque to be awarded to the point winners could be given to one of the clubs. Grand Rapids lost two points in the senior double sculls shells when J. Kortlander's left oar broke, after he had rowed one-fourth of a mile. The Lincoln Park Boat Club was the only other crew to start.

In the open half-mile dash yesterday, Grand Rapids was beaten by an eye-blink. Firsts count three points, seconds two and thirds one.

Two Leaders Score 16 Points.
According to Secretary Thomas M. Halley, early today the points were distributed as follows:
Lincoln Park Boat Club, Chicago, 16; Mound City Rowing Club, St. Louis, 16; Central Rowing Club, St. Louis, 8; St. Louis Rowing Club, St. Louis, 8; South Side Boat Club, Quincy, 8; Western Rowing Club, St. Louis, 7; Century Boat Club, St. Louis, 5; Peoria Canoe Club, 1; Grand Rapids Boat Club, 16.

The six-oared barge, the first of the senior events in the Central States regatta, was a remarkable race. The time, 3m. 30s., is only two seconds below the record. The Mound City won it by half a length.

J. Kortlander of Grand Rapids won the single scull shell race with apparent ease, but collapsed after coming in.

A. Gosseling and S. Oestreicher of the Century Club won the pair-oared, giving the club its eighth consecutive victory in this event. The St. Louis Club boys repeated their victory of Wednesday by winning the eight-oared shell race. The Mound City pressed them hard, however.

There was talk early today of starting this afternoon's races at 4 o'clock, on account of the excessive heat. Practically all the Central States oarsmen remained over to row today and tomorrow in the Southwestern amateur rowing regatta.

President J. E. Dill of the Central States Association is well pleased with the regatta.

At first Shotton misjudged the drive, but later got under it, only to drop it. It let McBride score from second and put "Cutie" on the middle barrel while Henry raised to Shotton and Engel struck out.

Morgan's effort was a lift to center field. At first Shotton misjudged the drive, but later got under it, only to drop it. It let McBride score from second and put "Cutie" on the middle barrel while Henry raised to Shotton and Engel struck out.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Mandot to Try Again.
JOE MANDOT, who in his time has made lots of dough both as a New Orleans baker and as a near-champion lightweight boxer, will undertake the "come-back" stunt this winter.

Joe picked out St. Louis as a resort in which to while away a few midsummer weeks—the same not speaking any too well for his taste in temperatures—and is, therefore, able to talk of his plans at first hand.

The blotches on Mandot's escutcheon consist in defeats by Leach Cross and Bud Anderson; defeats which enabled his opponents in those bouts to build up big reputations somewhat undeservedly.

"I expect to get into the ring this fall," said Mandot to a group of listeners, "and Cross and Anderson will be the first matches of importance that I'll make this winter. I was stale from a long campaign when I lost. I hadn't any resilience to me. That fact beat me in the Anderson match. He whaled me over the kidneys and paralyzed me, and I was slow to recover my strength."

Grin and Bear It, Frank.
FRANK CHANCE is complaining because Charles Comiskey handed him fruit of the citrus plant when he passed along Horton and Zeider. But nobody grabbed Chance's pen hand and forced him to write his consent to the deal for Chance.

The entire country gasped at the trade. Temperamental as he is, Chance is a great player while the grins, while which he was passed along have never caused any maelstroms in the baseball puddle.

Chance evidently hasn't the right sort of hide to stand the goad; nor the spirit that makes men grin, while suffering from their own shortsightedness.

And Then Some.
B. AN JOHNSON still insists Chance is "it." He says in an interview: "Personally I have great faith in Chance and believe he is building up a strong club for next year. He is a great acquisition to the league."

Yet a New York writer, who travels with the club, says Chance's players are on the verge of revolt from fines, nagging and the verbal flailing of an impatient leader.

If Chance is an acquisition, Stovall is a godsend.

DRIVING CLUB TO HOLD MEETS ON SATURDAYS

The North St. Louis Gentlemen's Driving Club has decided to hold its weekly matinees on Saturdays instead of Sundays for the remainder of the season. The meets are staged at Waterworks Park, between Merchants Bridge and Grand avenue. A free for all trot and a 2:25-class trot and pace are on Saturday's program.

AMERICAN TENNIS MEN VICTORS IN DAVIS CUP FINAL

McLoughlin and Williams Beat Win From Canadians in Straight Sets.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 18.—Maurice E. McLoughlin and B. Norman Williams of the United States today beat R. B. Powell and R. P. Schweitzer of the Canadian team in the first singles matches of the final round in the preliminary contest for the Davis law tennis cup.

Both won their matches in three straight sets, McLoughlin being victorious by the score of 10-8, 6-1, 6-4, and Williams by 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

The doubles match will be played tomorrow and if necessary two further singles matches on Monday.

Victory in one match will enable the United States team to play England in the challenge round for the trophy next week.

Walsh Is Fired After 3 Games With Indians; Will Go to Chattanooga

Dee Walsh, the St. Louis boy, will be sent to the Chattanooga (Southern League) club by Manager Stovall. The Matins street back in St. Louis after a three-day trip with the Indianapolis (American Association) team. In one of the three games played with the Indians, Walsh made a couple of boots that aided in the defeat of the A. tail-enders and Manager Mike Kelley sent him back to St. Louis.

Local fans feel that Kelley didn't get Walsh a fair trial inasmuch as his fielding during the early part of the season here was sensational at times.

S'MATTER POP?

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. M'CARDELL

Mr. Jarr tonches his wife for two and gets one.

"CAN you let me have a couple of dollars?" asked Mr. Jarr, hesitating. "I've only got a little change."

"You've nearly a dollar in silver in your pocket," said Mrs. Jarr, "and that ought to do you, I'm sure."

"How do you know I have nearly a dollar?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Well—er—because, you should have much more than that. Look here, do you accuse me of having taken it?"

"No, not of having taken it. But at least you have made a recent doctrinal examination of my financial resources."

"I did not," replied Mrs. Jarr indignantly. "The way you throw around your clothes, it's no wonder everything falls out of your pockets on the floor. I suppose you'd blame me if I left your money lying all over the floor."

"Never mind arguing that point," said Mr. Jarr, who was willing to compromise the matter. "I need a couple of dollars—owe the paper man, and want to get something to smoke, I know," and Mr. Jarr held out his hand.

"Now, there you go!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "How can I pay the bills this week if you take all my money from me?"

"Why, I have a little bill or two to pay myself," faltered Mr. Jarr. "You know I let you have my whole roll."

"Better for me to have it than other people," said Mrs. Jarr. "Now please run away and don't get me upset this morning."

Mr. Jarr rubbed his chin reflectively. He didn't want to kick up a row about such a paltry thing as money. But still he had some financial obligations at the office, being indebted to Jenkins for the personal advance of $2, under solemn promise to settle the account this very day.

"Dad gone it! After this I'll take out my money first, before I hand over the week's pay," grumbled Mr. Jarr.

"You take out your money first, all right," said Mrs. Jarr. "You've spent $5 as it is, and now you ask for more."

"I spent over $4 taking you out last evening," explained Mr. Jarr.

"That isn't it," Mrs. Jarr retorted. "and if it was I shouldn't think you'd be throwing it up at me. Before we were married you'd take me out and spend $20 and never complain."

"Come, come," said Mr. Jarr, "this argument is not getting me anywhere and it's not getting me any money. Mrs. Jarr sighed and searched around in the little pocketbook in the big wristbag that hung on a peg on the closet under a kimono, a silk raincoat and a few other barriers to burglars.

The search resulted in Mrs. Jarr finding a Canadian dime, an Austrian coin of unknown value, but supposed to be worth about a cent and a half in American money, several coppers, and a quarter with all design long rubbed off face and back.

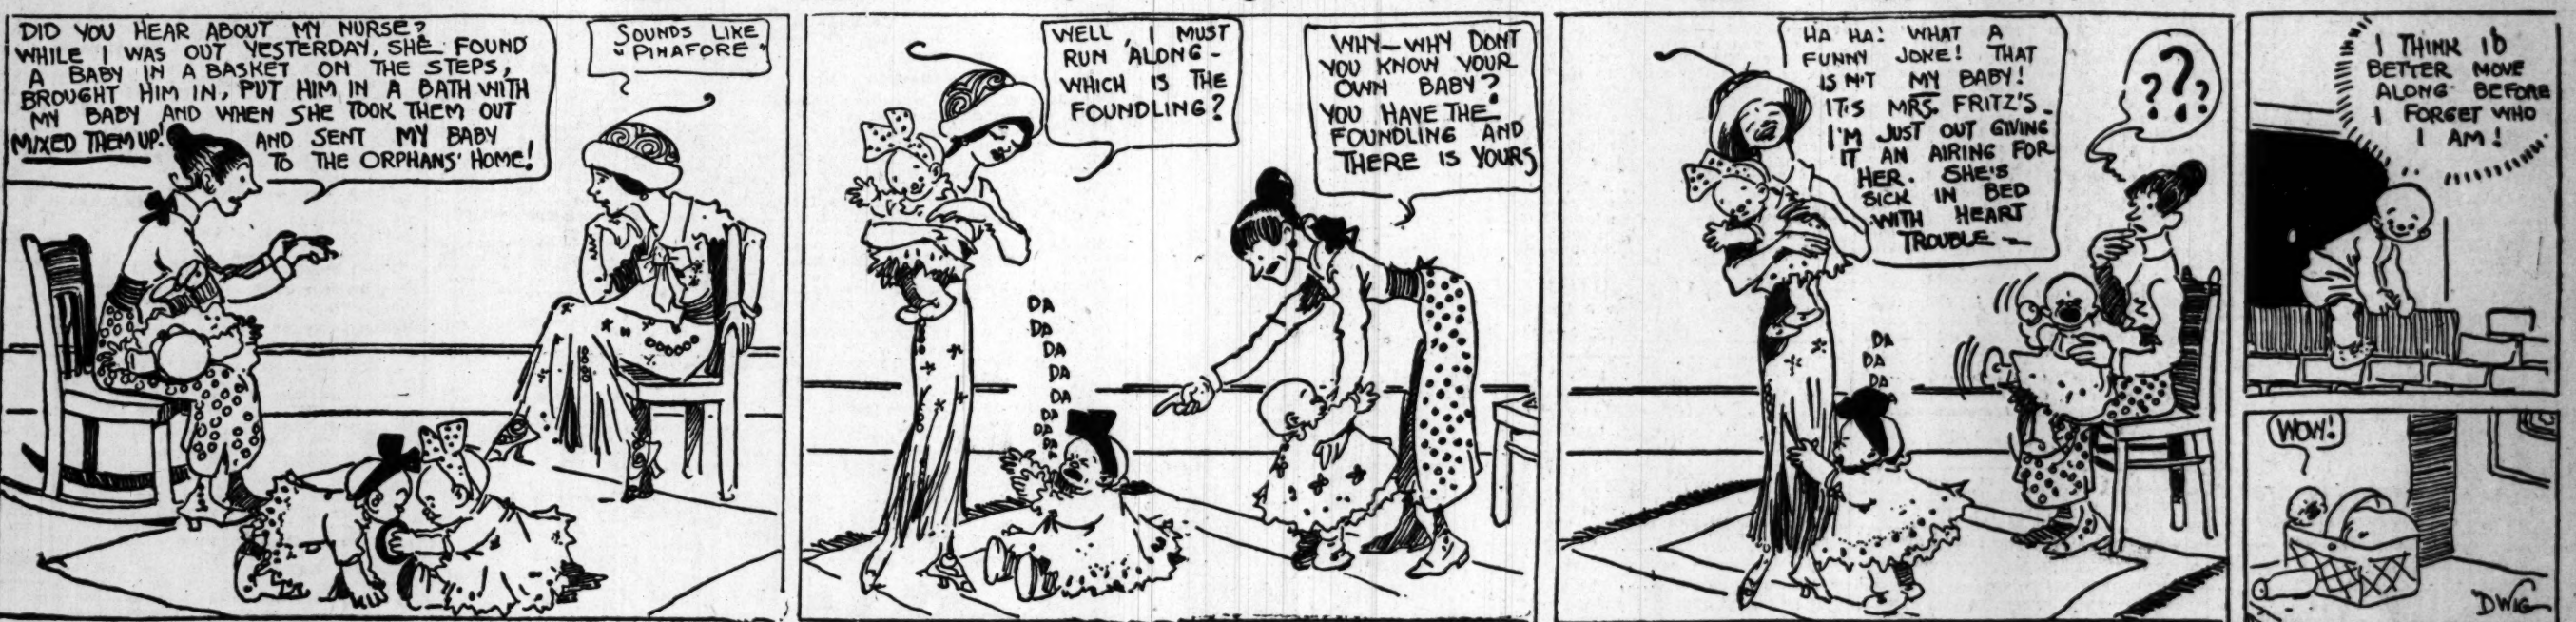

As Mrs. Jarr dropped the last bit of this dubious collection of currency into Mr. Jarr's extended palm she said: "There, now! I hope you'll be satisfied!"

"I should be," said Mr. Jarr. "But I'm in the wholesale woolen trade. However, if I meet a junkman—" queer mates, "but if you don't mind I'll keep the pearl button that got among the junk by mistake. Pearl buttons are very valuable."

"Well, if you won't take the money I give you, you can do without!" said Mrs. Jarr. "I offered you all the change I had. I need the rest of the money you gave me. For I simply must get some clothes. Positively I have nothing to wear."

"Then you are right in style," replied Mr. Jarr. "The ladies are not wearing anything this year. So give me some of my money back."

But she finally let him have a dollar.

Candor.
RIGGS (facetiously): This is a picture of my wife's first husband.

Diggs: Silly looking guy! But, say, I didn't know your wife was married before she met you.

Riggs: She wasn't. This is a picture of myself when I was 25.—Boston Transcript.

Too Busy.
GOTHAM: How many buttons has your wife got on the back of her dress?
Flatbush: Oh, I'm sure I don't know.
"Why, you've buttoned it up for her enough, haven't you?"
"Oh, yes, a hundred times!"
"And you don't know how many buttons are there?"
"No, when I've been buttoning it up I've been too confounded busy to count the buttons!" —Yonkers Statesman.

Old Remedy Defeated.
"SORE throat, eh? Get your wife to give you one of her old stockings to wrap around your neck."
"Tried that and it did me no good. She had nothing but these new-fangled openworks." —Washington Herald.

Ouch!
"I says here that there are 25,000 women in New York who are more than 75 years old," said the Old Fogey.
"The chorus girls make New York their headquarters," replied the Grouch.

A Greater Trust.
"YOUR nursemaid seems to be very careful with your child."
"She does seem to be careful. If she continues to be reliable I believe I shall trust her with Fido."

No Difference.
"HY, old man, I didn't know that she positively refused you."
"It amounted to the same thing. She said she was willing to wait until I could support her."

No Time Lost.
"A M I the first man you have loved this season?" asked the hotel clerk.
"Almost," answered the summer girl.

"Who got ahead of me? You have only been here an hour."
"I had a slight flirtation with the driver of the bus as we came from the station." —Louisville Courier Journal.

Wuff!
"I DON'T like that ossified man," said the Circassian Lady.
"What's the matter with him?" asked the Snake Charmer.
"Oh, he's so hard to get acquainted with," replied the Circassian Lady.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
